

DUEL IN DESERT SETTLES GRUDGE EIGHT YEARS OLD

Weird Death Pact Reveals
Little of War Quarrel—
May Be Over, Women

El Centro, Calif. — The world was too small for Henry Hendig Kus, and John Truden.

Their paths crossed twice. Once during the war and once eight years later; the first meeting bred an enmity which could not be forgotten and was settled only in death, when the two met the second time.

What happened between the two men the first time may never be known; and what happened the second time is one of the strangest stories of duels to date.

Kirk, artist, soldier, poet, musician and truck driver took love where he found it. Beneath the Hawaiian moon, on the Rue de la Paix, in India's coral strand, in London Lime-houses and finally, under the blazing desert skies.

They were flames which died and were forgotten until—

Kirk once again met John Truden. Chance brought their paths to cross in this little desert town.

Quietly, without anyone knowing it, the two men walked four miles into the desert and fought a duel of death with revolvers. Kirk fell, a bullet in his heart. Truden walked into the hills and killed himself.

LITTLE KNOWN

More than that little is known of the weird death pact, except in Truden's last message. He wrote:

"It was too hot to die in the desert so I came up here to end it all. You will find the body of my enemy down there in the burning desert."

A map accompanied the message indicating a spot four miles from Imperial.

Officers found the body of Kirk, a bullet in his heart and a revolver beside him. Truden's note explained both deaths.

Truden killed Kirk in a duel because they were enemies for several years. I bought the guns in San Diego. I made Kirk come out in the desert with me and I gave him a gun. We agreed to fight it out at dawn, but when morning came he was afraid.

"I had to wait until noon-time before he would shoot it out with me. We stood back to back and walked twelve paces. At the end of the twelve paces I was to count one, two, three and we were to turn and fire."

HE CHEATED

"But Kirk cheated. He fired at the count of two. Then I fired. Then he fired again and so did I, and the shots went wild.

"My third shot hit the mark. We had an agreement that the one of us who lived should kill himself.

"So I am not cheating and I am taking my life."

There were stories, unconfirmed, of a Mexican senorita. Sole Estivala. Kirk was supposed to have promised to marry her. But detectives declare there is no Sole Estivala. And there is Cleo Baxter Kirk, his wife, and their three-year-old child in San Francisco; and a woman in Honolulu, letters from whom were found in Kirk's possessions.

Was the death pact over any of these women? District Attorney Ernest Utley says no.

"Truden didn't know any of them," he asserts. "Truden was a slow, methodical man, of Austrian peasant birth. He worked as a laborer but had plenty of money."

Utley leans more to another theory, one that dates back to war days when Kirk was a pistol instructor at Annapolis and Truden held a similar post at Quantico nearby.

"The grudge dates back that far I believe, and it was only natural that two marksmen should settle their differences with revolvers—in a field of honor," Utley says.

POLICE WILL HANDLE DELINQUENT LICENSES

An ultimatum issued by Alderman Wenzel Hassmann, chairman of the police and license committee, to persons requiring licenses for their business to obtain them before Aug. 1 had a fruitful effect upon a few delinquent licensees, but a large number of them are still to be heard from. Mr. Hassmann announced that he will now turn over the names of the

RECORDS SELECTED BY H. S. PRINCIPALS

Class record books, lesson plan books and registers in which to keep students' scholastic grades, records of attendance and department records were selected and ordered at a meeting of principals of the junior and senior high schools at the office of superintendent B. J. Rohan in Lincoln school Saturday morning.

Old seats and desks which can be renovated are being selected from the seventh and eighth grades of the various district school buildings and will be used in the new junior high school. It is expected that about 300 seats will be salvaged. The next principal's meeting will be held in Mr. Rohan's office at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

SCHOLL GIVEN BRIDGE ORDER

Freedom Man Will Build
Structure Spanning Embarrass Cutoff

John Scholl, Freedom, was awarded the contract to build the bridge spanning the cutoff on the Embarrass river in the town of Liberty, at a meeting of Outagamie-co highway committee Friday afternoon at the office of A. C. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. The decision of the committee on the type of bridge to be used resulted in favor of the steel girder bridge over a concrete pier deck bridge. Scholl's total bid on the former type was $8,735 and was the low bid on the job. The cutoff is located near the Spurr bridge.

Other bidders were Henry Sprister, John O. Fischer and Hoffman Construction Co., all of Appleton. Mr. Brusewitz was instructed by the committee to draw up plans and specifications for the Nichols bridge in the town of Cicero and call for bids at the next meeting of the group.

HASKIN TELLS MEANS OF KILLING PLANT LICE

A use for nicotine and tobacco quite different from its ordinary use of going up in smoke, has been suggested by the Frederic J. Haskin of the Post-Crescent information bureau at Washington in answer to an inquiry from an Appleton woman who asked how she might kill off myriads of plant lice which infested the plants in her porch boxes. This was Mr. Haskin's answer: Spray the plant and vines in your porch boxes with nicotine sulphate or tobacco dust.

A Kaukauna woman sent specimens of insects to Mr. Haskin, asking if they were moths and how to get rid of them. For the week ending July 23, Mr. Haskin received 59 letters from Post-Crescent readers, and answered 15 questions. The total number of coupons received for the Haskin booklets was 56. Booklets on Yellowstone park sent in response to coupons numbered 22, and booklets on United States maps ranked next in popularity, with 15 sent out.

OWNER OF MILL AT HORTONVILLE MUST DROP DAM

Case in Progress 35 Years
Decided on Ruling of Rail
Commission

Hortonville—A decision of the Wisconsin railroad commission filed last week declared that Fred Buchman, Hortonville flour mill owner, was holding the water of Black Otter creek at too high a level and to the detriment of farmers residing on its banks.

Farmers of the vicinity had been complaining that the waters of the creek damaged their lands for the last four or five years because Buchman was holding the water higher than was customary. A complaint was made to the commission which sent engineers and established a "benchmark" on the creek. A hearing finally was held before the commission on Oct. 30, 1924 at Hortonville, and many witnesses were called. The decision just made states that Buchman must lower the water. It is likely that an appeal will be taken to the circuit court of Dane-co.

The case is especially interesting to old settlers of the region because it really was started more than 35 years ago. In early days a dam was built across the creek. This was used as a roadway to connect the two parts of the village of Hortonville. The dam raised a small head and a sawmill and grinding mill were started at the north end. Water power was supplied by the head raised by the dam. After the dam had existed a number of years water from the dam backed up and flowed over several acres of farm lands on the creek. About 1887 a farmer named Lake began action against the owners of the dam for damages caused by overflow on his lands. The case was tried in Outagamie-co and a jury decided against Lake, who never appealed from the decision. Buchman bought the property several years ago and erected a grinding and flour mill which he operated for many years. Finally the same thing occurred and the riparians took action against Buchman, with the decision as handed down by the commission last week.

OLD AGE PENSION IS BEFORE BOARD

Copies of New State Law Are to Be Sent to All Supervisors

study. Under a law passed by the last legislature, county boards of the state of Wisconsin are authorized to pass old age pension laws in their respective counties and the matter will be voted upon at the November session of the Outagamie-co board, Mr. Hantschel said.

The order of Eagles, which sponsored the bill in the state legislature will probably champion the law before the county board, if the matter is brought up.

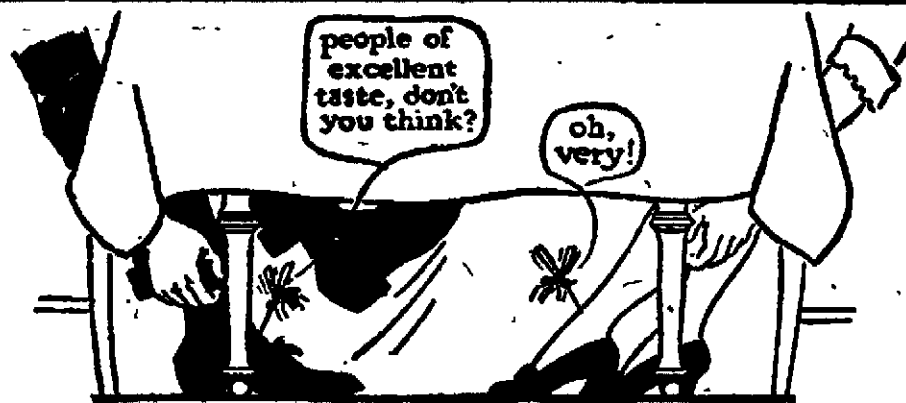

At the present time, it is understood, there is some opposition in evidence in this county, because of the location here of a county poor farm, which it is claimed obviates the need-ity of adjoining the old age pension law.

Supporters of the law here admit that Outagamie-co has provided for the aged, but ask, "Who wants to go to the poorhouse?" and point out that the state method as provided by the old age pension law is more humanitarian and takes care of the aged in a more fitting manner.

Fundamentalists and Liberals
Will Clash Over Its Part in Rule

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—This country is on the point of a showdown. It will mean one of two things.

Either:

1. We'll settle down to fundamentalist rule with no more yowling about it. Or
2. We'll be liberalized plenty—over-liberalized, the fundamentalists say.

This is the opinion of politicians—fundamental and liberal alike—who lift in and out of Washington, swapping reports concerning the conditions they observe in their various salivicks.

"JUST GROWED"

Politically the fundamentalists control the country—not effectively. Everywhere, but more or less, generally, nationally speaking. How they gained control nobody quite knows. It's a situation which just "kinda grew."

Before anybody realized it, here it was. The liberals don't like it. That's to be seen on every hand. Nor do the fundamentalists like the way the liberals titush around kicking against the pricks.

NO STRENGTH TEST

Who really is the majority? It's impossible to tell. There never's been a conclusive test of strength.

The liberals have given ground, bit by bit, without actually putting up much of a fight. This is done with—they're about to make a stand—more, to put every ounce into a desperate effort to drive the fundamentalist back.

So fundamentalist and liberal politicians agree in reading the signs. They agree, too, that the fundamentalists won't be satisfied with a mere defense—they'll do their utmost to nish liberalism off for good.

OPEN BATTLE

The struggle won't center about any single narrow issue—prohibition, evolution, some one detail of public morals, some particular so-called blue law.

The campaign will open—has opened, in fact—with a little detached skirmishing of this sort, but these skirmishes will increase in number and spread, and finally merge into one general engagement over the question of the relationship between religion and government.

NOT DENOMINATIONS

It won't be a fight between denominations. It will be a fight between those who say religion means the fundamentalists) is "interfering in government—between them and the fundamentalists.

The fundamentalists, to be sure, they're doing any such thing, but the liberals insist they are, and that they're trying to interfere more and more—getting away with it, too.

IT'LL BE BITTER

A religious fight is the bitterest kind of a fight. The thought of it makes the politicians shudder, but they see it coming.

The charge is being more and more openly made every day by liberal antagonists, that religion is increasing, not only influential, but dominant, in congress, in white house councils, and even in the courts.

It's an issue the liberals intend to push. It's dangerous, but if it can be made to stick—Americans traditional—don't like religion and government mixed.

Let the liberals present it convincingly enough, and they believe they'll have a strong case.

But can they do it? That remains to be seen.

BAND WILL GO WITH VETERANS

Legion's Saxophone Players
Will Be at Stevens Point
Convention

Oney Johnston, post of the American legion, is planning to send its saxophone band to the Wisconsin state legion convention in Stevens Point Aug. 20, 21 and 22. It is planned to have the band head the Outagamie-co delegation in the big convention parade Aug. 21. The Appleton band will be entered in all the competitions of musical organizations at the Stevens Point meeting.

Capt. Fred B. Rogers, band director in the World war, organized the American Legion Saxophone band in this city last winter, and has trained and directed the organization since that time. The only instruments played in the entire band of 24 pieces are saxophones. There are only a few bands of this type in the country. It is said the music played by an entire band of saxophones is somewhat similar to pipe organ music.

May Move City Hall Some Day To Lincoln School

Appleton's city hall may be moved to the Lincoln school building on N. Oneida street some of these days if discussion which has been going on for several months takes definite form. The idea seems to be gaining momentum and interesting views are being heard as to the wisdom of such a plan.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., admitted when questioned concerning the rumors, that the matter has been discussed for the last year. He does not know what will come of it, however, and while he believes the move might not be a bad one, he leans toward the oft repeated proposal of erecting a combination city and county building and courthouse.

NEED MORE ROOM

Both Appleton free public library and the city hall have sensed the need of larger quarters for the last few years. The present building, with the library on the first floor and the city offices on the second, was built 5 years ago when the population was many thousands less than now. A city the present size of Appleton should have more adequate public facilities, advocates of the plan say.

This idea crept into the minds of a number of persons when the junior high schools were established. The Second district schools, three in number, lost their seventh and eighth

SCHNEIDER TO ATTEND HIGH WATER MEETING

Congressman George J. Schneider of this city will attend a conference on the high water situation to be held at the summer home of Alan H. Tripp, president of the Association for the Relief of High Water, at Gills Landing, Sunday, Aug. 30. Others in attendance will be Congressman Florian Lampert of Oshkosh, and Congressman Edward E. Browne of Waupaca.

Mr. and Mrs. Tripp extended invitations to Oshkosh directors of the association to be present at their home for a combination social outing and high water conference on the day. The invitation stated that during the afternoon, the general situation would be gone over with the three congressional representatives and a damage claim drawn up on behalf of the Riparian owners. The proposed Shiocton cutoff canal will also be up for consideration.

Strong Soaps

No soap that is safe for toilet use will
"remove" germs any better than Palmolive

If guarding a good complexion is your aim, use a soap made to protect it

THIS is to protect beauty seekers from some false impressions. Good complexions are too precious for experiments.

There's an idea, we are told, that some soaps combat germs; and others not. That for aseptic reasons certain soaps must be used.

Soaps to "destroy" germs should be used only on advice of a physician. All soaps "remove" germs to a certain degree. No soap suitable for toilet use will "remove" germs any better than Palmolive.

In your own interest, carry that in mind. For beauty's sake, take care. Would you gamble with the good complexion it has taken you probably years to attain?

In old days, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps were too harsh. Then Palmolive came . . . a soap made of cosmetic oils . . . a soap made to protect the skin.

Women tried it, and found amazingly improved complexions and charm. Palmolive became quickly the leading toilet soap of the world. In France, home of cosmetics, Palmolive is one of the two largest selling soaps. French women have found it their ideal of a soap.

That is because Palmolive is a unique creation, based on 60 years of soap study. It is made solely for the skin.

Palmolive is not intended for laundry use or even for fine fabrics. For to be good for those things, its cosmetic qualities would need be much reduced. And millions of good complexions be thus endangered. As a "germ remover" no other soap suitable for toilet use is more effective.

But Palmolive results don't come from those other soaps. They don't come from strong soaps. They don't come from medicated soaps. Don't expect them. And don't take chances. To protect your beauty, use a soap made to protect it.

Palmolive, we frankly grant, is not the only fine complexion soap. We know of two others. But they cost you 25 cents, while Palmolive costs but 10 cents—no more than ordinary soaps. Enormous production brings you this modest cost.

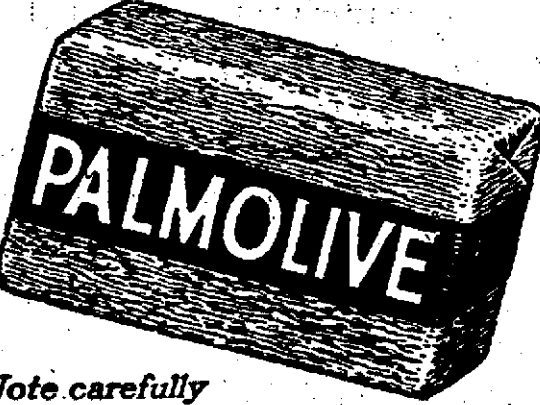

Wash, launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care. Use Palmolive, a soap you know is safe to use. It is nature's formula to "Keep That School-girl Complexion."

No "Two-Purpose" Soap

Will Bring Palmolive Complexion Results

Palmolive Soap is made for ONE purpose ONLY—to guard your complexion and charm. It is not intended for laundry use, nor even for fine fabrics. To make it good for those things, its cosmetic qualities would need be much reduced. And good complexions are too precious to be thus imperiled.

Don't expect Palmolive results from common soaps. Don't expect them from "jack-of-all-trades" soaps—soaps claiming to be good for scores of different uses. Palmolive is a secret blend of rare cosmetic oils, a scientifically made soap to be used freely and safely on the skin—millions of clear, pretty skins prove Palmolive results.

Note carefully
the name and wrapper.
Palmolive is never sold unwrapped.

CAKE

With a population of slightly over sixteen thousand people in Kewaunee county according to the census of 1920, the banks there have on deposit approximately seven and one half millions of dollars, by far the greater part of which is in savings accounts. This is a splendid record. As pointed out in a news dispatch it shows that there is an average for each man, woman and child in Kewaunee county of something like four hundred sixty dollars in the bank.

This, of course, is entirely aside from the wealth of the County in property, farms, buildings, factories, livestock, automobiles and other personal property. It is in addition too, to investments such as bonds, notes, mortgages and stocks.

We think the people of Kewaunee county have proven very clearly a thing upon which we have perhaps dwelt at considerable length,—that aside from the one person in a thousand "whom unmerciful disaster follows fast and follows faster," there is no reason why a person should come to the sunset of life without sufficient for his own care; there is no excuse for any person of health and reasonable determination not to make a good living to lay up a competence in the U. S. A.

The people of Kewaunee county are entitled to notice for their ways of thrift and industry; and yet at the same time no people live in a more comfortable manner nor are any other parts of our population more generous or hospitable.

A wonderful change in the picture has been wrought in the last fifty years. The Bohemians, Germans, Belgians, and the smattering of Irish that went into Kewaunee county in the early days were the real builders of the present prosperity. They are the ones originally entitled to the credit for Kewaunee county of today, a garden abloom, a thrifty, contented, industrious people.

The present generation, the sons, and grandsons of the original pioneers, will miss a lesson in life if they fail to visualize their ancestors, their work, their hardships and privations in establishing the smiling countryside and prosperous communities that now greet the eye. For their fathers toiled and toiled hard; without railroads, even without sufficient roads, with a few cents in money, an axe and a slab of bacon, but with honest hearts, warm affections and muscles of steel they undertook the task of turning a wilderness into a thriving community and they never flinched nor faltered in their work. That the present generation has inherited the qualities of thrift, good management and frugality is evidenced in their savings accounts alone.

MALE HELP WANTED

If any young man wants to know how and where to invest his life, let him study the "want columns" of the daily papers. A discerning youth will learn more there than he can be told in a dozen "successful lectures."

"Only men who can deliver the goods need apply." There is little demand for the youth who has only learned to "get by." The high salaries are paid to those who can "make good."

"Earnings in direct proportion to ability." No man gains anything by getting money he has not earned. James J. Hill accumulated a fortune of many millions by developing the Great Northern railroad but he gave the public a thousand times as much as he accumulated for himself. Every rich man who has earned his fortune has made more money for the public than he has made for himself.

"Men with ability wanted,"—not men with a pull, a suit case full of recommendations, influential friends, bell bottom trousers, the latest dance steps, family trees, beautiful baritone voices. But men who can go ahead without waiting for orders. Charles Steinmetz could not speak English, did not own a dollar, held no college degrees and arrived in America via steerage. But within a few years he was recognized as the electrical genius of his generation. He had ability—and needed very little more.

"Must be willing to work." Enough said!

"Must have pleasing personality." By this is meant that he must be able to smile in the face of defeat, reply courteously when treated brusquely, offer his opinions with conviction and kindness, take his promises as seriously as other men do and be willing to sacrifice a game of golf for a signed order, keeping his speech as clean as his finger nails.

"Must be of good character." There can be no substitute or "just as good" here. Character is what you are when you are not being watched. It is God's opinion of you. The opportunities for the man without character are becoming daily more scarce and less desirable.

"Married man preferred." One who has a home and loves it better than any spot on earth, one who is capable of a great sacrificial love, one who has the inspiration and the counsel of a good woman, one who works every day with the sense of responsibility resting upon him, one who has a child's education to plan for and a baby's laughter to greet him.

If you want to know what kind of a man the world is looking for and the kind of a man it is willing to pay for, read the "Help Wanted" columns.

NO CANCER CURE

A cancer germ and a cancer vaccine, not a cancer cure, are the discoveries announced by the British Medical Research Council which are attracting all the world's attention.

The sufferer from cancer is no better off than before, except as scientists seem to be discovering more potent uses of radium. He cannot be vaccinated as a cure. But the great mass of potential victims can be vaccinated for preventive purposes, if the remarkable experiments so far successful for animals maintain their effectiveness when a developed serum is applied to human beings.

That will be a tremendous improvement over the rather painful and superficial preventive expedients now occasionally sought by persons who fear this dread disease enough to resort to the knife for the cutting away of suspicious lumps and blemishes. And the cancer victim will have himself, not hard luck, to blame.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

HOME TALENT

The evening meal is over and the family's ill at ease. To break the spell of quiet, sister's drumming over the keys. The old piano's tummy and the notes are kinda flat. But strains of Ol' Virginny and the like sound good, at that.

Dad gets to feelin' tenebrous, as his favorite songs are played. He takes his old mouth organ and he joins the serenade. While mother, at her sewing, now and then suggests a song and as they turn to playin' it, she's hummin' right along.

It isn't long till cousin starts her fiddle in to squeak. She frankly tells them all she hasn't practiced for a week. Then brother Bill adds vigor to the rhythm of the tune by joinin' with the family on his enor saxophone.

The neighbors sit in silence as they lend a willing ear. There's something quite appealing in the music that they hear. A family joined together, is a gatherin' hard to beat. Perhaps it's just that thought that makes the sourest tune sound sweet.

(Copyright, 1925 NEA Service, Inc.)

Wish the doctor would tell us we couldn't eat anything except fried chicken.

What's become of the girl who admitted she couldn't hug because she hadn't practiced much?

Not long ago a girl was more proud of her cooking ability than of her necking ability.

Men are funny people. A man will chase a girl until she catches him.

Lots of loving now and then has caused the shooting of some men.

When kissing a girl in an auto arrange matters so she is looking one way and you the other.

Some people worry because they worry too much.

Gossips keep a lot of people from doing a lot of things.

The female of the species stands between people and the light more often than the male.

Some people feel at home everywhere except when they are at home.

The hardest thing about living to a ripe old age is making your credit last.

Being a rugged character is hard because it is noticed so seldom.

BITES AND STINGS

A vacation doesn't seem quite regular unless one gets bitten or stung by something or other. Some such motive no doubt inspires the artists who get out travel and resort literature.

What to do when one is bitten or stung: Resort literature—plan a walking trip for next summer.

Dog—if skin is broken have doctor treat the wound, but if no doctor is available, immediately wash the wound with tincture of iodine and treat as any other wound; if there is any question of rabies, the wound should be immediately cauterized with hot iron, or nitric acid, or pure phenol (followed by alcohol), and the animal confined for two weeks under observation of a veterinarian; if the veterinarian can give the animal a clean bill of health at the end of that period, forget and forgive.

Snake—immediately incise the skin where the fang marks show making the cut with point of razor or a sharp pocket knife just deep enough to insure bleeding; then suck the wound for a minute or two, then apply (or if possible inject around the wound with hypodermic syringe), a weak solution of potassium permanganate, and the emergency kit should contain a few five grain tablets of the permanganate for this purpose. The leg or arm above the bite should be constricted with a twisted bandage or tourniquet, which should be loosened for a minute every five minutes. Stout shoes reaching well above the ankles or leggings are advisable for campers and hikers, for protection against snake bites.

Scorpion sting—apply the same treatment as for snake bite. Hot wet compresses relieve the intense pain at the point of puncture, and weak ammonia water (or other alkaline solution) more or less neutralizes the irritant.

Bee sting—immediate application of hydrogen peroxide, removal of the sting, and hot wet compresses afford relief, or even wet clay or mud or the end of a freshly cut potato. Wasp or hornet stings are more business like; wash ammonia water or touching with tincture of iodine is relief.

Flea, bed bug or other minor bites.—peroxide dabbed on, or applications of vinegar or weak ammonia water or any soothing ointment such as the old doc salve in the emergency kit.

Mosquitoes—rub the spot gently with wet soap, or bathe with a tablespoonful of household ammonia in a cupful of cool water or the same amount of saleratus, or touch the wheal with glycerin or with peroxide or with tincture of iodine.

Ants—the bite is a hypodermic injection of formic acid, which is exceedingly irritating. The remedy is any alkali, such as ammonia water, lime water, saleratus, or even soap.

The standard soothing lotion which is probably best for the relief of itching and burning in most emergencies, is known as calamin lotion and consists of:

Oxid of zinc	2 drams
Calamin	2 drams
Glycerin	2 drams
Lime water	4 ounces
Plain water or rose water	4 ounces

This mixture should be shaken up and applied by dabbing on the skin with fingers as often as needed. When itching is very intense a little phenol (carbolic acid) may be used in the formula. Use two ounces of the 5 per cent solution of phenol (which the druggist may sell without prescription) instead of two ounces of the water. This calamin lotion is suitable for relief of itching or burning in hives, erythema, sunburn and numerous other conditions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Plastic Surgery.

Will you be good enough to recommend a surgeon to do a plastic operation for me? Is it a dangerous undertaking? Are the results guaranteed? (Miss S. L.)

Answer.—Reputable physicians, surgeons or specialists do not and cannot guarantee the outcome of any operation or other treatments. Send a stamped self addressed envelope and mention what operation you seek.

SHIPPING BOARD
GRADUALLY GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

Spectacular Wartime Performance Is Succeeded by Effort to Keep Ships Going

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—Twice in the history of the United States its ships have multiplied until they swarmed the seas. The first period was at the height of trade rivalry, the second at the call of war. It was said of Helen of Troy that hers was the face that launched a thousand ships. The same might be said of the face of the American Goddess of Liberty. When, in 1917, the call to arms came from the presiding American Doty, her shipwright was the United States Shipping board. Its brief history has been one of splendid achievement, although tinged with episodes of almost comic fiasco. The first period of American shipping activity reached its zenith in 1860. The clipper ship, the fastest sailing ship the world ever has known, was designed by an American and the lofty clouds of canvas spread by this type of craft bore the American flag to every port in the seven seas. In 1800 American merchant tonnage was but 1,500,000; by 1890 it had reached 8,000,000. For seaworthiness and speed these ships never have been excelled under sail. The Yankee shipmasters used to lock the halyards to prevent timid sailors from shortening sail and in quest of speed records, would let their sails be torn from the rigging before they would reef them in a stiff blow.

SCUTTLED SHIPS

Then came the Civil war. The stone fleets sailed from New England. Tall clipper, loaded with stone, sailed down the coast and were scuttled in the mouths of southern harbors to blockade them. The great winged fleet was gone. It was not until after 1890, in spite of the progress of steam on the ocean, that American merchant tonnage again reached the high point of 1860. Indeed, it was not until 1917, when the shipping board fleet began to come into existence, that the volume of foreign trade carried in American ships reached what it had been just prior to the Civil war.

The act which created the Shipping board was not approved until Sept. 7, 1916. At that time the United States was not in the war and it was not at all certain that there would become a belligerent. The act of congress, at the time of passage, was not intended to result in setting the government up as a shipbuilder, except in some contingency which then seemed remote. An appropriation of $50,000,000 was provided not believed generally that the government actually would go into the shipbuilding business. The shipping board was created essentially to act as a body to regulate ocean freight rates, just as the interstate commerce commission regulates rates of the railroads. Developments crowded so fast, however, that little of this function ever has been exercised.

Then came April 6, 1917, when the United States entered the war. Instantly the word came from the allies that ships were required more than anything else. Daily their own vessels were falling prey to the submarine and meanwhile armies and civilian populations were running short of food and munitions.

SHIPS QUICKLY MADE

The government turned to the shipping board and evoked the provisions of the shipping act authorizing the construction and operation of ships. Every shipyard in the land was working day and night on ships for private builders of this and foreign coun-

Q. Do deep sea fish burst when caught and brought out of the water? A. C. F.

A. Deep sea fishes, such as the red snapper, when they are brought up from great depths too quickly burst as the sudden change is too great for the capacity of their air bladders.

Q. What is the exact diameter of the earth? J. H.

A. Dr. Hayford made calculations for the International Geodetic Physical union and announced that the earth is precisely 7,926 miles and 678 thousandths of a mile in diameter and 7899 miles and 964 thousandths of a mile through the poles.

Q. Can a one-armed player get into the big leagues? P. R.

A. There is no rule against a one-armed player joining major leagues. There was a one-armed pitcher by the name of "One-Arm-Daley" in the old National league about 30 years ago.

Q. Is there definite data concerning the sinking of any island other than Pulu Rakota? T. P.

A. There have been various instances of islands disappearing through volcanic action or through erosion. One of the principal examples of the former is Graham Island (Gerdanadea), in the Mediterranean, which was thrown up a height of 200 feet with a circumference of 3 miles.

One of the first movies of the shipping board was to requisition or commandeer all these vessels over 2500 tons. It then began awarding new contracts so that six months after the United States had entered the war more than 1000 ships were under contract or requisition. A year later this figure had risen to 2400 ships. Congress immediately gave heed to the necessity for ships and poured money out of the treasury coffers. A few months after the war had been cast the vast sum of $2,000,000,000 was made available for ships, shipyards, the purchase, and the expenses of operation of ships. A year later this figure had increased to $3,000,000,000.

When the armistice came, the shipping board yards still were busy with ships under construction and private yard with ships, under contract. Launchings were constantly being made. The need for transport of war supplies was at an end, but an era of unprecedented trade activity set in to meet Europe's reconstruction needs. The shipping board became a great operating company with vessels in every trade.

A worldwide business depression ensued and the ships became idle. The board had vessels tied up in nearly every American port. It was concluded to liquidate this vast fleet by selling it to private ship operators. Many of the vessels found ready purchasers and now are plying the steamship lanes of the world under private ownership. The board's policy is to dispose of others as rapidly as purchasers can be found but with so great a fleet considerable time will be required to find buyers. Meantime, the board continues to control a fleet numbering 1234 ships, valued approximately at $225,000,000.

A SERMON TO BUYERS

We urge you to be hypercritical in buying a shirt. Demand that pattern be correct. If it's a solid-color shirt, make sure that the collar or neckband be cut to hug the neck all around, that the fabric be sturdy and serviceable, that the garment be well made and well fitting.

If you purchase to the above specifications, the shirt you buy must be an Eagle.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

"THE PEASANTS" I have been amusing myself by imagining what "The Peasants," Raymond's Nobel prize novel, would have been if it had been written by a sentimentalist, either European or American, who sits in a steam-heated flat and becomes eloquent about the beauty and simplicity and nobility of rural life. Scores of books of that kind have been written. The honest democratic virtues of rural life as contrasted with the social snobishness of the city formed a kind of literary tradition in America until 25 years or so ago when Hamlin Garland showed ed up the insincerity of it in "Main Traveled Roads."

Anyone who has lived in the country—that is if he has actually been one with the peasants and has not merely lived among them—knows that there is just about as much snobishness in the country as in the city, just about as marked social distinctions, about the same mixture of honesty and dishonesty. The outsider glibly refers to the horny-handed son of toil, the honest husband of the soil, but he has said something. All he has done is to reveal the fact that he does not know who he is talking about and that he is substituting sentimentality for fact.

NO PARAGONS

In a book like "The Peasants" sentimentality and its lack of information would soon show themselves for what they were. The peasant society in Raymond's great novel the world in microcosm and any writer who should attempt an epic then like that in a patronizing spirit would inevitably fail. And anyone who should try to paint the peasants as a people who are paragons of virtue would just as inevitably fail.

"In 'The Peasants' almost all the characters are looking out for Number One almost all the time; the sentimentalists would paint them as self-sacrificing and disinterested. Raymond had the advantage of knowing real peasants, not stock stage figures. Greed is as much of a ruling passion among the peasants as it is in all stratum of society. The only difference being that among the peasants it is less well disguised than it is among polite people.

And snobishness is there too something that the sentimentalists would never admit about rural life. In the little Polk village, as in any town or city anywhere on earth there is a "big man" whom everybody worships to his face, but secretly envies or despises. In this case in the first two volumes, it is Boryna, a peasant who has more land than the others. On a scale so large as that other characters gradually come into accordance with their worldly goods, down to the beggar woman whose only possession is a feathered hat she has saved to dream from all the others.

VICES AS COMMON

No sentimentalist writer who rural life would ever admit that the social vices are about as common in the country as in the city. Sentimentalists assume that rural people are as a general thing pure-minded, God-fearing men and women, and that social vice is the fruit of the congested conditions of the cities.

Raymond knew better, as everybody knows better who has first-hand acquaintance with country life. It is true that in the country the social vices are not commercialized but there are none the less and they may find a place in any adequate picture of the peasant. Some have objected to this feature of "The Peasants," just as the same kind of people object to the same kind of thing in "Growth of the Soil," but the writers of these books set to tell the truth about their characters, not merely sentimentalize about them.

And then take the quality of sincerity. The sentimental writers about country life seem to believe that a rural people are simple and sincere not complex sophists. But look Raymond's picture. The characters are ignorant enough and filled with superstition to the gullet, but the more they are there is in any grade of society. And within their limitations, they are often tremendously complex and devious in their methods.

"The Peasants" is a splendid tidbit to much stuff about life that many writers purvey.

3,000 Soo Workers At Beach Picnic

About 3,000 persons attended the second annual outing of Soo line shop employees and their families at Waverly beach Saturday. There were two special trains to Waverly, one from Fond du Lac and the other from Stevens Point. As Fond du Lac and Stevens Point are important division points on the Soo Line, and as there are large car and engine shops at each place, most of the people on the picnic were from one of these two cities.

An extensive program of games, races, and many unique contests for men, women and children of all ages took up most of the day. There were 34 events on the program. Hundreds of prizes were donated by Fond du Lac and Stevens Point merchants and manufacturers.

A prize was awarded to the Fond du Lac delegation for having the most beautifully decorated coach on its special train, and the Stevens Point crowd took the prize for the most beautifully decorated locomotive. There were 13 coaches on the Fond du Lac train, and ten on the Stevens Point train. The locomotives on both trains had been newly painted, and were trimmed up with many flags and quantities of bunting.

The Soo line band of 34 pieces furnished music for the occasion. The band is from Shoreham, Minn., a suburb of Minneapolis and the headquarters of the Soo line.

PARTIES

About 50 friends of Mrs. Chris Hadden, 1310 S. Madison-st., surprised her Saturday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Dancing was the chief diversion of the evening. On Sunday evening, Mrs. Hadden was again surprised by about 25 friends. Cards was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Thomas Heald, Mrs. Anton Boehmlein and Mrs. John Leonard at schafkopf and Joseph Schultz and John Leonard at sekat.

Miss Adela Klumb, 913 W. Fifth-st., entertained a number of guests at a dinner Friday evening in honor of Miss Dorothy Pierce, who was married to Dr. Carl Neidhold Saturday evening. The out-of-town guests were: Miss Gladys Neidhold, Wakefield, Mich.; Miss Florence Clark, Kenosha; Miss Jean MacFarlane, Oshkosh.

Leo Frye, Dale, was surprised Friday evening in honor of his birthday anniversary. Among the guests were: Ruben Mabel and Rosella Kluss, John, Linda, Edward and Robert, Volman, Albert, Louis, Ida and Amanda Buman, Alvin and Pearl Buman, Arnold, William and Fred Rellen, Violet, Dorothy and Rosalie Maas, Norman Miller, Elmer and Wilis Schroeder, Clarence, Levi and Elmer Schroeder, Margaret and Melvin Morack, Alfred and Milton Hand, schke, Edward, Schuelke Jack Niles, Michael Grall, Lawrence and Sadie Morack, Alvin Dobberstein, Nellie, Henry and William Sammers, Oscar and Emil Lenz, Eldora and Dorothy Porchardt, Edna, Eunice and Gladys Glaser, Lillian, Lempe, Martin and Hulda Buman, Meta and Henry Sawyer, Howard Becker, Hazel Melitz, Victor Frye, Elsa Frye and Malcolm Nicman.

Mrs. Max Hein of Columbus, Ohio, who has been visiting at the home of August Pottter, 513 N. Clark-st., was guest of honor at a series of parties given during her stay here. On July 23, Mrs. C. F. Schwendler entertained at a luncheon and Mr. and Mrs. George Krueger entertained at a dinner at 6 o'clock in her honor. Mrs. A. Pottter was hostess at a dinner July 24 and Mrs. W. Furstenberg entertained on July 25. Others who entertained for Mrs. Hein were: Mrs. H. Boese, Mrs. J. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pasch, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ahl, Mrs. D. Hoh, Mrs. Emma Schwerke and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zilske. Mrs. Hein left Monday for Green Bay where she will visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Hills. After a week's visit there, she intends to go to St. Paul, Minn., where she will visit with Dr. and Mrs. K. Hemminghaus.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Walter L. Jolin of Stephentown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jolin and Miss Florence O'Bryan of Kingston, was solemnized at a nuptial high mass at 8 o'clock Monday morning at St. Mary Catholic church at Greenville. The Rev. Edward Schlimberg performed the ceremony. Miss Agnes Jolin, sister of the bridegroom, and Joseph Tremmel were the attendants. A wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. W. Wendlandt of New London. After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jolin will make their home in New London.

PICNICS

About 70 members of Deborah Rebekah and Odd Fellow lodges attended the picnic which was held Saturday afternoon at Brighton beach. Bridge and schafkopf were played and the children were amused with all sorts of games. A basket supper was served at 6 o'clock. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. George Jackson, George Sutherland, Mrs. William Martin and Mrs. Breitenfeldt.

A party of 14 young people autoed to Green Lake Sunday where they were served the day. A picnic lunch was served in the evening. Those present were: Marion Steffen, Marcella Weber, Frances Van Ryzin, Norma Schroeder, Margaret Casper, Lavila

DR. NEIDHOLD TAKES DOROTHY PIERCE AS BRIDE

A pretty midsummer wedding was solemnized at 8 o'clock Saturday evening when Miss Dorothy Pierce became the bride of Dr. Carl Neidhold at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley H. Pierce, 805 W. Front-st. Dr. Neidhold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Neidhold of Wakefield, Mich. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. A. Holmes of the Methodist Episcopal church. Miss Gladys Neidhold of Wakefield, Mich., was maid of honor and Miss Florence Clark of Kenosha, and Miss Adela Klumb of Appleton were bridesmaids. Wilbur Hoyer of Milwaukee, was best man. Miss Jean MacFarlane of Oshkosh, played the wedding march.

The bride is a graduate of Lawrence college and member of Delta Gamma sorority and Theta Sigma Phi journalistic sorority. Dr. Neidhold is a graduate of Northwestern medical school and a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity and Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity. A buffet lunch was served after the ceremony to about 75 relatives and friends. Dr. and Mrs. Neidhold left for a two weeks' trip through northern Wisconsin and Michigan and on their return will make their home on Eldorado-st.

The out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Neidhold, Wakefield, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Passmore, Marquette, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Marjorie Jo and Robert Neidhold, Chicago; Mrs. Henry Nabbefeld and daughter Jean, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parks, Kaukauna; Mrs. Carrie Black, Kaukauna; Dr. and Mrs. D. COME FROM FAR TO REUNION OF ROHM FAMILY

One-hundred fifty members of the Rohm family traveling from as far as Knett, Idaho, attended the second annual reunion which was held Sunday at the John Koss farm, on the old Seymour-rd.

The reunion opened with a religious service at 10:30, with the Rev. E. L. Worthman of Kaukauna in charge. A basket dinner and supper were served. Immediately after the dinner a business meeting was held and it was decided that the next reunion would be held at the Robert Rohm farm, half a mile north of Appleton, next year the first Sunday in August. All officers were reelected at the meeting. They are: Otto Rohm, chairman; George Droeger, vice president; the Rev. E. L. Worthman, secretary; John Koss, treasurer. A committee of three, composed of August Heinz, Charles Heinz and Mrs. Lena Buchman was appointed to act with the officers, who compose the executive committee, to make arrangements for the reunion for next year.

One of the features of the afternoon's entertainment was a baseball game between the married men, with Droeger captain, and the single men with Oscar Rohm captain. The game was a tie. Games, races, contests, fat men's races and volleyball were other events that furnished entertainment for the day.

FAMILY GATHERS AT PIERCE PARK FOR BIG REUNION

About 200 persons attended the O'Connell-McMahon family reunion at Pierce park Sunday. A picnic dinner and supper were served, and the afternoon was taken up by a program of games, races and horseshoe pitching. The older men of the big family showed they still could "strut their stuff" over their descendants when they defeated the younger men in an exciting baseball game by the score of 9 to 7. The winning battery was composed of E. A. Killoren and George O'Connell, while Walter Duffey and Frank O'Connell did the hurling and receiving for the losers. Guests from out of town were: Mr.

and Mrs. Martin O'Connell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Purke and family, George O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Riley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew O'Connell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Crowley Milwaukee; Mrs. Armbruster, all of Milwaukee; Mrs. Alfred Bralnard, Ironwood, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Gibson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duffey and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gibson, all of Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Little, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lindberg, and Frank Battle, all of Neenah; Sister M. Alexis and Lawrence McMahon of Green Bay.

AUGUST FUR SALE

The Biggest Fur Buying Opportunity of the Year With the Season's Choicest Pelts and Lower Prices

There Are Many Advantages In Buying Now

EVERY FUR GARMENT A BEAUTY

Each magnificent fur wrap has been individually selected by our experts, scrutinized with the same skill and care used in choosing precious gems, chosen for its unmistakable beauty, genuineness of pelts and masterful work.

The choicest pelts of the season are always selected for the early season coats—they are the furrier's show pieces. And in addition to the best in peltry, they are the finest in workmanship, being made during the furrier's so called slow-season and the most careful attention is given to their needlework and finishing details.

The smartest of the fashion-decreed models for the season of 1925-1926 are here in a most wonderful selection and in every variety of fashionable pelts, all of which have been carefully selected by us. You will delight in the new lines, the beautiful matching and quality of the pelts and the exquisite finishing details and linings.

CONFIDENCE IN FURS

If there is one article of wearing apparel that must be purchased with confidence, it is a fur coat. Without complete assurance of the quality of a fur garment, full satisfaction can never come to the wearer. Unless one is absolutely certain that the fur is exactly as represented there will always remain a doubt in the mind of the purchaser as to its real standard.

There is no doubt when you select a fur garment at Geenen's. Here you can purchase with absolute confidence, which creates full mental satisfaction.

MAKE A DEPOSIT NOW

We will accept a small deposit on any garment now and arrange the payments to suit your convenience.

We will hold the garments in storage, until you are ready to take them.

Planned

Kaukauna—Preparations are being made to remove the old Park school kindergarten from its site near the Soldiers and Sailors monument on Lawrence street. The building was sold by the board of education to Lummering and Son for $450. As soon as the structure is removed the site will be filled in and turned over to the city. The entire plot, which forms a large triangle between three streets, will be made into a park with the soldiers and sailors monument, donated by the late Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Lord, occupying a prominent position.

if Fans Will Support Meeting

Kaukauna—A meeting of importance to all players and especially captains of the Twilight league will be held about 7 o'clock Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. club rooms. All other baseball fans also will be welcome to attend. The idea of putting on a three games series with a team of players from the old Fox River Valley league and the winners of the Twilight league, or a picked squad from the entire circuit, will be considered. If present plans are carried out the games will be played on three consecutive Sundays and a admission will be charged. Complete arrangements will be made at the meeting, provided attendance is large enough to warrant an interest in the coming event.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—The Misses Edna Snell, Seymour, Priscilla Sharp, Appleton, and Marion and Dorothy Smith and Evangeline Mayer of this city, left Sunday for a week's camping trip at Devil's Lake.

MEYERS RETAINS MAT HONORS IN WAUPACA MATCH

Throws Contender Van Wurden of Oshkosh, in 22 Minutes and Breaks a Rib

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Johnny Meyers, world's middleweight champion, defended his title here Friday night against Carl VanWurden of Oshkosh in easy fashion. The match lasted 22 minutes when Meyers secured a top body scissor hold by which he broke a rib off at the spine before Van Wurden would give in. Medical aid was at hand and VanWurden was removed to a nearby hotel upon a stretcher. It may be several days before he will be able to be taken to Oshkosh.

From the outset it was apparent that the champion was clearly the master of the situation and only a matter of time would lapse when a decision would be rendered. If Van Wurden had any show for the title at Oshkosh in a recent match with Meyers, the meeting "last night" clearly demonstrated he was out of his class. Meyers' training partner, Jack Rayner, took on Ray Ayers of Manawa. The man from Manawa without a great deal of training or experience made Spierling stop to get the falls.

In the regular bout Young Nelson of Green Bay lost to Kid Knight of Oshkosh, who in turn took on the Indian chief Smith. The boys went 10 minutes to a draw and Smith said at the conclusion of the match he would get the Kid in their next meeting. A crowd that was twice as large as has ever witnessed a wrestling match here, turned out, and outside the accident to VanWurden in the windup match, were highly pleased with the evening's entertainment. Meyers has promised to return again to wrestle anybody the fans desire and will put his title at stake when the weight is at 160 pounds.

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The local public library has completed its annual inventory. The report shows a substantial growth in the library, and denotes that New London people are making the best of their opportunity to secure good reading material for the asking.

The report follows: Total number of volumes in the library on July 1, 1925 was 5,497. Of these 3,396 are adult books, 2,233 are classified as nonfiction, and 1,674 as fiction. There are 4,501 children's books in the library, of which 578 are nonfiction and 923 fiction.

The total number of registered borrowers from July 1, 1924 to July 1, 1925 is 2,756. Of these, 1894 are adult and 862 children; 230 new borrowers were secured between the dates of Jan. 1 and July 1. An average of almost two books a person were borrowed during the year. This is considered to be an excellent average.

The total number of books borrowed from Jan. 1 to July 1 was 16,501, a gain of 656 over the 1924 circulation for the same months. A total of $789.77 was taken from the library fund during the year for the purchase of new books. With this, the library secured all but 65 of 624 new books; 500 of the 297 adult books added during the year were donated by individuals or the Book club; 327 of the new books added were children's.

This report includes the year from July 1, 1924 to July 1, 1925.

HELPING STALLED CARS
DISCOURAGED BY COURT

New Orleans, La.—The Louisiana State Court of Appeals has decided that if you crank somebody else's automobile, you do so entirely at your own risk.

Harry Perkin of this city broke his arm in obliging J. K. Lewis, a produce broker, whose car would not start, and then sued Lewis for $1,250. The court's decision was that Perkin knew, or should have known, the risk he was running.

Perkin claimed Lewis asked his aid in cranking the automobile, and also asserted that Lewis gave the engine too much spark as it was being cranked.

TOOK TWO YEARS TO BUILD SEWER
ON OSHKOSH-STProject, Which Caused City
Fathers Heartache Is All Finished

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The much discussed Oshkosh-st sewer, which has used up two years in building and almost $50,000, is completed at last. The last section of pipe on the renowned project has been laid. It had caused the city fathers and Supt. Gesso two long years of labor and worry, had been responsible for the discharge of a city engineer and other troubles and bickerings.

The sewer is now the largest one in the entire city, and is laid with 48-inch vitrified tile and concrete. The tile went in until it began to cave in, and then the job was finished with concrete, after several engineers on the subject had been consulted. The sections of concrete are four feet long and weigh 3,600 pounds each. The main sewer is about a half mile long.

Two tributaries are now being laid from the main sewer. There will be three blocks on W. Pine-st, and four on Law, two of which are already completed, and preparations by the steam shovel. These will be laid with 24 inch pipe. The remainder of the trench of the main sewer will be filled in as soon as the two tributaries are completed.

This is the largest sewer which has ever been undertaken here, and furnishes a sewerage system to that part of the city in which it is located which is seldom rivaled.

CANNING PLANT AT HORTONVILLE HAS GOOD YEAR

Finishes Work Peas and Starts on Bumper Bean Crop—Installs More Snappers

Special to Post-Crescent
Hortonville.—The Fox Valley Canning company of Hortonville has completed the season's canning of peas with a very good crop of fine quality peas, and has started the canning of stringless beans. The company now employs 142 persons. The growers are employing from five to six hundred persons to pick the beans. With a little warmer weather, the factory and growers will need many more persons to help harvest the crop. There are twice as many growers this year as last year, and the acreage is about 25 per cent more in proportion. Growers have from two or three rows of beans in the garden up to 20 acres on farms.

For early beans, the company is paying from 1 1/2 to 5 cents per pound, and for the late beans from 1 1/2 to 7 cents per pound. The early beans are the long, yellow variety. The late beans are the green ones, and are the most common because they are very hardy and prolific. The company installed two more snappers this year, making a total of seven snappers. The quantity of goods packed by the company this year will be very large, due to the increase in about 35 per cent of the crop was destroyed by the floods last year.

German Opera Claims Wisconsin Baritone

Another instance of a young and talented American singer going abroad with the hope of winning distinction on the operatic stage and realizing his ambition has been furnished by a Wisconsin boy but recently returned from Germany after a successful season with the municipal opera at Munich.

Robert Ringling, son of Charles E. Ringling, one of the two surviving brothers of the famous Ringling circus, returning passenger on the Majestic and in his pocket was a signed contract as leading baritone for the winter season of 1925 and 1926 at the Munich opera.

Mr. Ringling was born at Baraboo and attended the public schools there and was later a student at the University of Wisconsin. At 11 years of age he was a victim of injuries received while playing football that made him a helpless and bedridden cripple for four years. At 15 he began to study operatic roles, and at 24 he made his public debut. He has sung leading baritone roles in this country with the San Carlo Opera Co., and has been heard in Appleton in recital with Josephine Lucchese, coloratura soprano of the San Carlo company.

Making his German debut at the historic old opera house at Ulm in "The Barber of Seville," his success was so great that he was promptly engaged for the Munich season. He comes home for an intensive summer of hard work being pledged to sing 19 roles in Germany the coming season and has 10 new roles to learn before that time. "The roles are familiar to him in Italian and he has appeared in the roles, but must now learn the German words."

With the expiration of his German contract on Aug. 31, 1926, the announcement has been made by the Chicago Civic Opera Co., that Mr. Ringling would be found on its roster of baritone. His brilliant advancement in his chosen field is being watched with great interest by friends in his native state and elsewhere.

HE HATED HIMSELF FOR BECOMING SO DRUNK

Kenosha — Being drunk on the street was too much for Matt Walters, 75. When he came into court and learned how drunk he had been, he was astounded. "Judge, I'm ashamed of myself," he told Judge R. V. Baker. "I'm too old to allow that to happen and I'm through with liquor for life. Before all of you people here, I swear off."

In view of the pledge, Judge Baker gave him the minimum fine, $1.

PICK SITE FOR POWER PLANT

North American Co. Will Build Huge Unit on River at Green Bay

The new $2,000,000 steam plant of the North American Co. will be located on the west side of the Fox river near its mouth, just outside the city limits of Green Bay, according to S. B. Way, general manager of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co., principal subsidiary of the North American Co., in the state. Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., of this city is also a large subsidiary of the North American Co., and will benefit by the new power plant at Green Bay. It is understood that the new plant of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation and the proposed plant of the North American Co. will stand almost side by side on the west side of the river. Both plants will have access to the yards and tracks of the Northwestern railroad, which passes to the west within a half a mile.

DROP MURDER THEORY IN MYSTERY SHOOTING

Beloit.—A murder theory to account for the death of Vincent Giagaglione, 23, who died in a hospital here without regaining consciousness after being shot in the head in the kitchen of his home, was dismissed by investigators, who said he either committed suicide or his revolver was accidentally discharged when he let it drop. No inquest will be held.

STAGE And SCREEN

CORINNE GRIFFITH HERE IN "DECLASSE" Those who see Corinne Griffith in "Declasse," which is showing at the Elite Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, will agree that she has done the best work of her career in this screen adaptation of the famous stage play by Zoe Akins. The enthusiasm which marked the initial showing of this First National picture was unusual. Robert Vignola, who directed the production, deserves special mention for the excellent work of his work.

Miss Griffith was surrounded by a cast whose names were nearly as familiar to the audience. It included Lloyd Hughes, Hedda Hopper, Rockliffe Fellowes, Louise Fazenda, Lilyan Tashman, Clive Brook, Joan Standing, Eddie Lyons, Mario Carillo and others. The adaptation was by Bradley King and Charles Whitaker.

The story deals with the unhappy marriage of Lady Helen Haden, played by Miss Griffith, and her love for an American, Ned Thayer, who has allowed himself to fall into the clutches of an adventuress. His reformation and her future happiness form the basis of an exciting and entertaining story.

SOME "WHOPPERS" FOR FISHERMEN TO TALK ABOUT

You have to have your nerve along with you when you go fishing in the Sacramento River, California. F. Holland Dutton of Los Angeles tried it and hooked a 44-pound bass that he couldn't haul into the boat. So handing the line to a friend, he jumped in the water after it. Even then it took him 15 minutes before he had the fish where he wanted it.

This little boy, Joseph White, 10, of Clearwater Beach, Fla., is in a class by himself as a fisherman. He is shown with four tarpons, total weight 359 pounds, which represent the result of an afternoon's fishing.

With thousands of gun-bearers, boaters and attendants upon the backs of his trained elephants, Maharaja Dhiraja, of Nepal, the youngest ruler in the world hunts wild beasts in the jungles at the foot of the Himalaya. The king is no mean hunter himself as can be evidenced by the dead tiger lying at his feet.

Fishermen, golfers and radio owners have been running a close race to see who can tell the biggest whopper. This yarn puts the golfers one up on the others. A certain well-known golfer playing on a Florida course hit a ball into the nearby marshes. His search for the missing golf ball was unsuccessful. But this golfer did find a crocodile, and squeezing him, forced him to disgorge the missing ball.

If there are any healthy young giants in the audience will they please stand up! Miss Katie Van Dyk, buxom young Hollander of 7 feet 7 inches, is coming to America soon and says she would like an American husband, but is not in the market for mere six-foot shrimps. She comes from the great dykes where women are women and big and strong.

When a camera man asked this giant moose to pose for his picture at Kineo, Me., moose turner and plunged into Moosehead Lake and swam for the other shore.

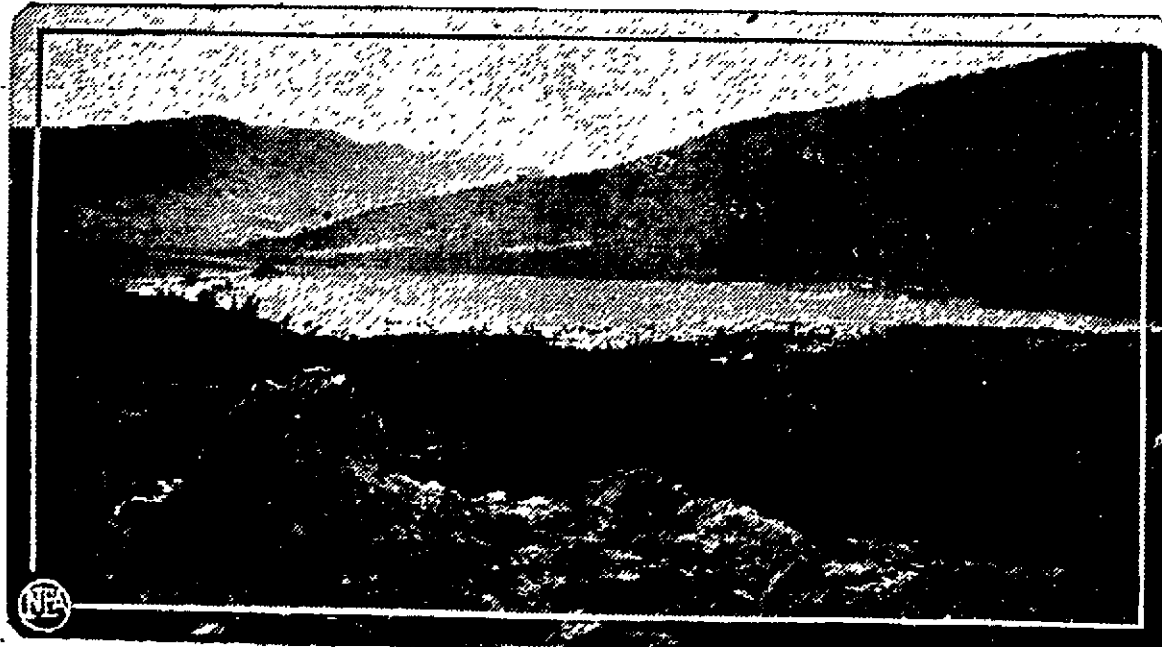

You've often heard of the "lucky dog." Now we have the lucky cat Irving Wood, a Boston millionaire, died and left the greater portion of his fortune to John Henry, his pet cat. John Henry can now live the rest of his feline days in perfect ease and contentment.

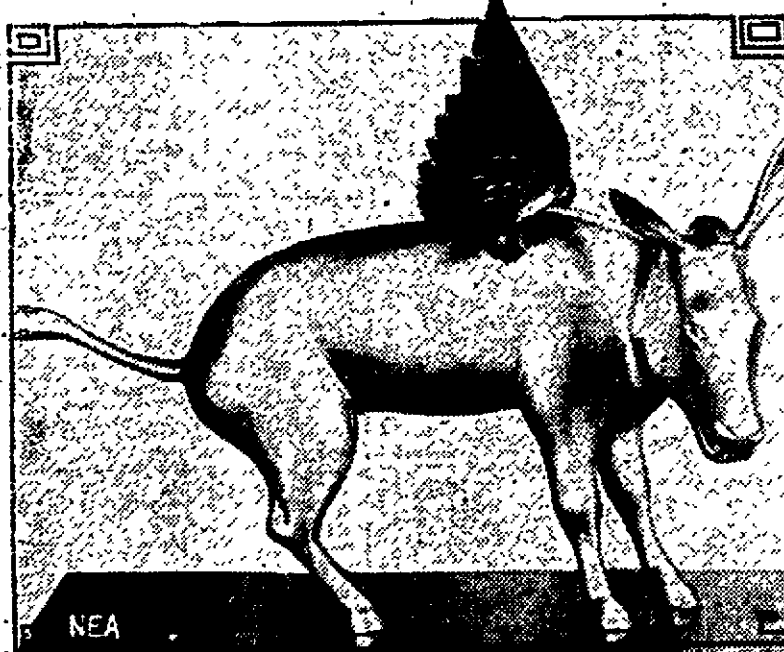

Princess Dolgorousky is one of the most beautiful of the Russian nobility. She is a direct descendant of Rurik, the first sovereign of Russia.

"Kill the British and Japanese" was emblazoned on the banners carried by these Chinese students in Peking. Thousands of them, paraded, to show their hatred of imperialism and their devotion to China's cause in trouble there.

An exclusive picture of what happened when the recent Montana earthquake slid Chief Mountain, of the Teton range in the western part of the state, into a river. It dammed the stream and made a lake. The nature-made dam is a half mile across and 225 feet above the former river bed. Several ranch houses were carried down the mountain by the slide.

When an army flyer at McCook Field, Dayton, O., pulls what his comrades believe is a "boner" white in the air there a kangaroo court composed of his fellows immediately sits in judgement on him. If he's convicted this trophy is awarded to him, to keep until a new culprit is caught.

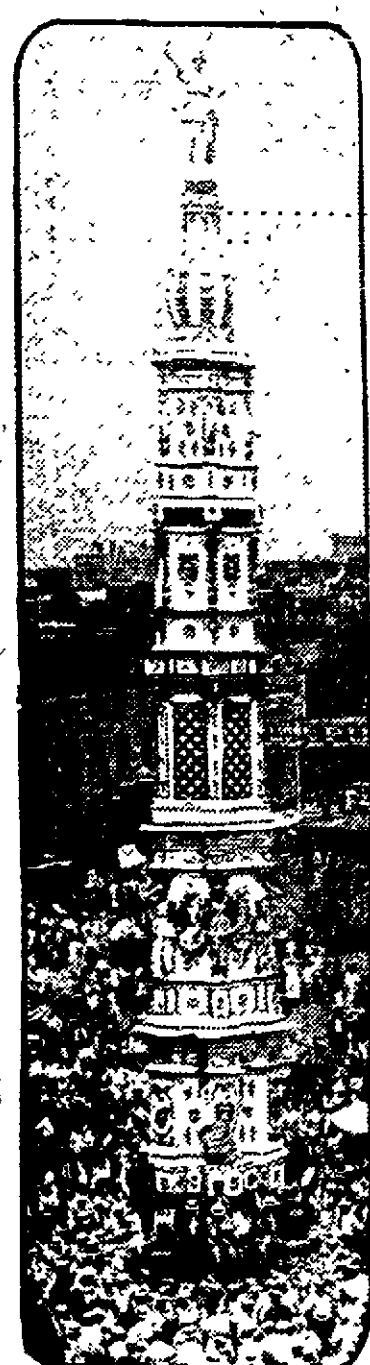

This presents Mrs. Maggie King, who does nine or ten washings a week in the creek outside of Dayton, Tenn. Mrs. King can't read and she hasn't heard of evolution, but she is very sure that bobbed hair for women goes against the Bible, while she blushes at the very word of face powder.

"Miss Lucy" is in the nursing business. She adopted the bull puppies when requested and seems to be glad to raise them along with her own family. "Mrs. Lucy" lives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kaple, Cedar Rapids, Ia. The mother of the three young Boston bull pups died undergoing a caesarian operation.

Thomas J. Horne of the National Museum, Washington, is assembling the bones of a mastodon, the skeleton of which was found by Dr. G. W. Gibley in Arizona. It is believed the giant animal is a million years old.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN $28,000 FIRE AT MARION

SIX BUILDINGS DESTROYED IN SUNDAY BLAZE

Firemen and Others Are Hurt When Two Autos Making Run Collide

Fire causing approximately $28,000 damages and destroying several barn buildings and a machine and implement building occurred at Marion, a short distance from Clintonville, at about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The volunteer department of the village fought the blaze for hours but were unable to save the property, as the fire had received a quick start and spread rapidly over the frame buildings. A call was issued for the Four Wheel Drive fire pumper and crew of the Clintonville department but on arriving there the crew was unable to save anything.

Two automobiles chasing to the fire, one driven by a fireman, the other by the owner of some of the buildings on fire, collided on Main-st. causing injuries to four of the occupants.

SIX BUILDINGS BURN

The property destroyed consisted of six buildings owned by Bernard Meyer, father of the fire chief, Harvey Meyer, and the machine and implement shop of Spengler and Martin. The Meyer property lost was a 40 by 120 foot feeding barn, an 80 by 29 foot auxiliary barn, a silo, two corn cribs and a 100 foot wagon shed. Spengler and Martin's machine warehouse was about 30 by 80 feet. Mr. Meyer estimates his loss at about $10,000, while Spengler and Martin estimate theirs at from $15,000 to $18,000. The warehouse contained a quantity of machinery and automobiles which were destroyed. A part of the machinery was saved.

The fire was witnessed by Henry Frank, janitor of the hotel in Appleton, and he assisted the firemen at the blaze. The men pulled out some plows and some machinery on wheels, but machinery on the second floor had to be sacrificed. Other buildings nearby were endangered by flying firebrands, and firemen concentrated their efforts in protecting these buildings. One of them caught fire seven times. The origin of the fire was one of the barns about a block north of the First National bank. From this barn the blaze spread to the others. The exact cause of the blaze, however, has not been determined. All of the property was partly covered by insurance.

CARS COME TOGETHER

Four persons were injured when the touring car of Frank Polzin, fireman, and the car of Bernard Meyer, collided. Both were traveling at a high rate of speed to the scene of the fire, the one to join the firemen at work, the other to protect his own property.

The cars collided head-on, and one of them was swung around striking a store front. The building, however, was not damaged. Mr. Polzin was caught in an awkward position in the top of the car. He was twisted about so as to suffer internal injuries. His daughter Dorothy was thrown on the concrete pavement and was stunned for a time. A son Earl, suffered a bad gash on the head. Another son, Erwin, was uninjured. Mr. Meyer also escaped injury, but a fellow occupant, Dr. J. K. Bunn suffered cuts on the head and legs.

Both cars are badly damaged. The touring car is beyond repair, while the coupe has two wheels broken and the radiator rammed into the engine.

G. O. P. WANTS TO PICK COOLIDGE AS NOMINEE

Local friends that he announce himself as a candidate for lieutenant governor, Mr. Coolidge would not say a word until after the senate had ended its legislative session. He declared that the reason for his silence was an unwillingness to protect the question of a successor to himself into the ranks of the senate. He insisted that if he had made an early announcement every decision he made in the senate would be viewed as political.

UNWISE TO STATE PLANS

Mr. Coolidge is in a somewhat parallel situation today. Even if he is thinking seriously of ending his public service in 1928 it would be politically unwise to say because his influence in his own party would tend to diminish rather than increase, and factionalism would develop as the consequence of different political booms, particularly in congress where presidential aspirants have become unusually numerous since the Republican party chose a United States senator in 1920 as the standardbearer.

So long as Mr. Coolidge remains silent therefore, he keeps political unity for himself. Another reason for avoiding a premature indication of his plan is the fact that the congressional elections of 1926 are on the horizon. It will in reality be a test of Mr. Coolidge's strength. Already his supporters are planning that kind of a campaign. Indeed they count on Mr. Coolidge's popularity to help retain a Republican majority. The Democrats will not be slow to characterize the loss of either house as a repudiation of the Coolidge administration. The public did not realize it but among the politicians the 1926 and 1928 campaigns are one and the same thing because of the definite feeling that if all goes well in the congressional fight Mr. Coolidge will be the inevitable nominee to succeed himself.

The next dispatch in the series will deal with the development of the Coolidge personality after two years of the presidency.

ASLEEP ON THE DEEP

Sidney Helms of Des Moines, Ia., has completed a 200-mile trip down the Mississippi River on a mattress. He is a mattress salesman and the mattresses he sells float. So he put a light wooden frame around one, gave the bow a toboggan flare, stuck an outboard motor at the back and got up a speed of eight miles an hour. He went from Keokuk, Ia., to St. Louis.

RIVER OPENED TO GREEN BAY

Blasting at DePere Is Finished and Boats Begin Moving Coal

Navigation through to Green Bay which has been held up for several weeks by the deepening of the channel at DePere reopened Saturday and the first barge of coal headed for Oshkosh arrived in Menasha late Saturday afternoon and tied up at the government dock where it remained until Monday morning. It was towed by the tug junior of the Cook & Brown Line company of Oshkosh. Earlier in the day another barge loaded with rock sailed out of the channel at DePere passed through on its way to Clifton, where the Cook & Brown company used it in the construction of a breakwater.

Navigators and boatmen along the river had been anxiously awaiting the reopening of the stream which was closed during the busiest part of the navigation season when coal barges and other large boats were held up. Government work is said to close navigation for a time each year on the river about when the busy shipping season is at its height, causing much dissatisfaction among the navigators.

GROGAN GOES TO K. C. CONCLAVE

Initiation of Columbian Squires, New Bay Order, Will Feature Program

F. W. Grogan will leave Monday evening for Duluth, Minn., where he will attend the international convention of Knights of Columbus which opens Tuesday morning and continues for a four day session.

The initiation of the first section of Columbian squires, composed of 30 Duluth boys, is scheduled for Monday evening. The Columbian squires is a junior organization of Knights of Columbus. It is a part of the "boy problem," a program which was suggested at the Knights of Columbus convention three years ago. It is expected this convention will approve the squires movement and a college course in "boyology" will be given at Notre Dame university as a post graduate course. This is the first time in the history of education that an actual course in "boyology" has been established as regular part of a university curriculum.

Edward L. Hearn, whose home is at 25 Via Delle Muratte, Rome, Italy, will be given the distinction of making the longest pilgrimage to the forty-third supreme convention of the order. Mr. Hearn was appointed playground director for boys in Rome when the knights decided to do welfare work in Europe. Mr. Hearn is a past supreme knight of the order and carried a message of greeting from Pope Pius XI to the Duluth convention in 1920 as the standardbearer.

So long as Mr. Coolidge remains silent therefore, he keeps political unity for himself. Another reason for avoiding a premature indication of his plan is the fact that the congressional elections of 1926 are on the horizon. It will in reality be a test of Mr. Coolidge's strength. Already his supporters are planning that kind of a campaign. Indeed they count on Mr. Coolidge's popularity to help retain a Republican majority. The Democrats will not be slow to characterize the loss of either house as a repudiation of the Coolidge administration. The public did not realize it but among the politicians the 1926 and 1928 campaigns are one and the same thing because of the definite feeling that if all goes well in the congressional fight Mr. Coolidge will be the inevitable nominee to succeed himself.

ESHERS' THEORY WOULD ABOLISH MANY MINISTERS

Few Men Are Fit for Politics After Reaching 40, Official Says

By Associated Press
London—Recent assertion of Lord Esher that but few men are fit for politics after reaching 40 years of age has caused much speculation in British Parliamentary circles and has resulted in the ages of all the English cabinet members being discussed in numerous publications. If Lord Esher's theory were brought into practice, it was revealed that the present cabinet would be reduced to one member, this being Lord Eustace Perry, minister of education, who is 38 years old.

Lord Esher, deputy governor of Windsor Castle, and author of several books on the lives of King Edward and Queen Victoria, who himself is in his 73rd year, on the question of ages, said: "To very few, and possibly only to reflective minds, like Sophocles and Leonardo, is the privilege granted of sustained vigor after the age of forty." He cited Napoleon, who was 40 when at Schonebrunn in 1809, the zenith of his career. In Chatham and his son as well, he contends, the vital spark faded early.

Further, Lord Esher asserted: "No man and very few women, retain physical charm and generous instincts after 40 years of age. All men and women should be aware of the 30's. In our time there are manifold examples of the failure to maintain, after the age of 40, a pertinent grasp over public affairs and the faculty of wise decision."

"But is there, in fact, any true comparison between the men of today and the men even of the Napoleonic times?" asks the Evening Standard in an editorial in which Lord Esher's contentions are disputed.

The most ordinary observation of society as it exists at the present time would appear sufficient to negative the theory that few women retain physical charm at 40, says the Standard which goes on to aver that evidently the dramatists of today do not think so, or they would not be so fond of introducing mature heroines.

After pointing out historically and otherwise where Lord Esher is altogether wrong in his observations concerning politicians the Standard continues: "As for the statement that no man retains generous instincts after 40, surely the converse is nearer the truth. Women are here the best judges, and it is a very common experience to find young women turning from men of their own age to men who are considerably their seniors merely because they find not only more entertainment, but more sympathy and understanding."

Lord Esher's most recent work was "The Tragedy of Lord Kitchener," a book completed when he was 71 years of age.

NEW ICEBREAKER TO HONOR NAME OF NOTED SHIP

Veteran Cutter Bear Will Give Its Title to Modern Vessel

Washington—In the construction of its new $225,000 ice-breaker Bear, the coast guard is drawing upon the experience of its own officers versed in Polar conditions, and asking foreign countries for information that may prove useful.

Lieutenant Commander Stephen O. S. Yeandle, aide to Rear Admiral Fredrick C. Billard, coast guard commander, hopes to have incorporated in the new craft provisions for carrying two airplanes, equipped to land on the ice.

The veteran cutter Bear, for which the new craft will be named, has been doing duty in Alaskan waters since 1885, and probably will make its last trip in the frozen north this season. Coast guard headquarters have written to some 50 officers who have served on the Bear and other ships in the ice regions, to obtain their views on just what features the new ice-breaker should embody. A communication recently was dispatched to Sweden for data on a new ice-breaker being built in information over the world from there and officers have in mind glean those experienced in vessels called upon to do ice duty.

The old Bear will remain in service, if possible, until its namesake is commissioned. The new ship still is in the blueprint stage, but officers expect it to be in service by next season, or certainly in 1927.

Having in mind the recent Nome epidemic, Lieutenant Commander Yeandle wants the new ice-breaker to be equipped with airplanes as a measure of economy. The aircraft not only could scout ahead for clear water, saving the vessel from bucking heavy ice packs, but in an emergency could rush aid inland.

Miss Kathleen McMinn of Chicago, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. William Rogers, left for her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Borland and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wrad autotied to Bear lake Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. A. McGregor and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krause, who are camping at Cedar lodge for two weeks.

LIBRARY LOSES MISS MORGAN

Retiring School Superintendent Was Last of Charter Board Members

With the annual meeting postponed until September, the Appleton library board will hold a meeting on Tuesday in the city public library to allow bills, hear reports and transact other routine business.

Retirement of Miss Carrie E. Morgan as city superintendent of the schools and ex-officio member of the board, removes from the board the last of its charter members. She is succeeded by Ben J. Rohan, new superintendent of schools. Miss Morgan was present at the last meeting but in an unofficial capacity. She came as secretary pro tempore to read the minutes for Mrs. Rush Winslow, secretary, who was absent. Miss Morgan was city superintendent of schools longer than she was a member of the board. Her service as superintendent began 31 years ago and the board was organized 28 years ago. Board members who served the library with her at that time have either died or retired several years ago. Miss Morgan also served as secretary for 17 years, succeeding Dr. J. T. Reeve in 1906 and being succeeded by Mrs. Winslow in 1923.

The forerunner of the city library was a little loan library started by the Clio club on College-ave near the present site of the Novelty Cleaners and Dyers shop. The library was founded in 1897 following a donation of books by George C. Jones, and rooms were obtained in the old council chambers where the Harwood studio is now located. The present library building was occupied 23 years ago.

RIVERVIEWS ARE LOSERS 4 TO 3 TO OSHKOSH NINE

St. Mary Team Wins Seventh
Game in Tilt With Little Chute Sunday

Menasha—Manager Steve Kolasinski's Riverview baseball team was defeated by the strong Teela Sheet Metal team of Oshkosh at Menominee park at Oshkosh Sunday afternoon by a score of 3 to 4. The Riverviews were in the lead 4 to 1 until the seventh inning, when the home team scored three runs, tying the score. Oshkosh scored its other run in the eighth inning. Romnek, who was on the mound for the visitors, pitched excellent ball. John Spieski was the star for the Riverviews, getting three hits.

The Young Men's baseball team of St. Mary church won its seventh consecutive game Sunday afternoon by defeating the Little Chute Continentals 6 to 3 at Recreation park. The visitors were held scoreless until the sixth inning when they made their first run. They added two more runs in the ninth inning. Goez, the home pitcher had five strikes to the visiting pitcher's eight.

FALCONS WIN

In spite of the fact that Catcher Leo Stomach was out of the game in the first inning by a foul tip which hit him in the abdomen, the Falcons won the game Sunday, 8 to 5. Gerry did the receiving after the first inning and was succeeded at third base by John Weisgerber, who was transferred by Manager Spisli from first base. Alva Omar, utility man, played first base the remainder of the game. The Falcons did heavy hitting. Weisgerber, shortstop, featured the fourth base hits. The batteries were: Falcons, Zenzelski and Gerry; Dale, Kobinski and Grossman.

The Gilbert Paper company team of the Industrial league defeated the state penitentiary team at Waupun Saturday afternoon by a score of 8 to 3. The battery for the visitors consisted of Jerry and Slomski.

LEGION DOWNS ELKS

The American legion team downed the Elks team Saturday afternoon, 19 to 5. Each team now has a victory to its credit. The third and deciding game of the series will be played later.

Menasha Wooden Ware company team of the Industrial baseball league was defeated at Kohler Saturday afternoon. The score was 26 to 6. A return game will be played in Menasha Saturday, Aug. 23.

The Central paper company team of the Industrial league won Saturday from the John Strange Paper company team, score, 9 to 4.

WOMAN BELIEVED 100 YEARS OLD IS DEAD

Menasha—Mrs. Mary Zielski, whose age is said to be 100 years, died Saturday at the county poor house, where she had been an inmate for the last 20 years. She leaves no survivors so far as is known. Her only son went to Canada more than a century ago and is supposed to be dead as he has never been heard from.

Mrs. Zielski lived in Menasha in the early days, but most of her intimate friends have either died or moved away. One of the charitable organizations of St. John church has taken charge of the body and has arranged the funeral services which will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. John church. The interment will be made in St. John cemetery.

BICYCLE RACES ARE PLANNED FOR SATURDAY

Menasha—The city recreation department is endeavoring to stage a series of bicycle races by former expert riders for Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8. Three races are being planned, one for riders under 14 years of age, one for riders under 30 and one for riders over 30 years old.

TEAM TAKES FRIGHT AT BLAST OF WHISTLE

Menasha—People employed in the vicinity of Taconet bridge witnessed a runaway Saturday which was a thriller during the few minutes it lasted because of the possibility of the team coming in contact with the heavy traffic on highway 15. A team driven by Charles Bartz which was delivering coal became frightened at the shrill blast of a whistle near the plant of the Menasha Printing & Carton company and made a dash through the railroad yards in the direction of Taconet bridge. The horses were beyond control until within a few feet of the bridge when the driver succeeded in guiding them across several railroad tracks in the direction of a building where he finally stopped them.

PAIR ARRESTED AFTER BURGLARY OF TWO HOMES

Strangers Are Arraigned and Bound Over for Trial for Thefts

Neenah—Police officers were called to the William Booth home on W. Main st. early Saturday morning because the place had been broken into and relieved of articles of clothing and household goods amounting to about $200. A search made of the premises but no clew could be found of the intruders. The search was continued Sunday and two strangers, Harry Gosling and George Brown, were arrested west of the city and charged with entering private property with intent to steal.

In the meantime a complaint reached Charles Watts, chief of police, from the home of Emil Meyer. A number of persons entering that place and getting away with similar articles as were taken from the Booth home. Most of the loot was recovered as these two men proved to be the ones who committed the burglary. In Justice O. B. Baldwin's court Monday morning they waived preliminary examination and were bound over to appear in municipal court in Oshkosh. Bail was fixed at $500. They were unable to furnish the amount and taken to the Winnebago jail to await orders from the court.

RIOTS BREAK UP KU KLUX MEETING

More Than a Dozen Injured
After Police Withdraw Protection

By Associated Press
Westwood, Mass.—Injury to a dozen or more persons, the wrecking of a farm house in the Lexington district here and the arrest of three men for carrying concealed weapons was the aftermath of the Ku Klux Klan's first attempt to hold a meeting in this district since the state police stopped supplying guards for Klan gatherings.

The meeting in a field on Boston-Providence highway here Sunday three towns were unable to quell. A mob of 500 anti-Klan sympathizers and three score klansmen staged a pitched battle with fists, rocks and bricks and although firearms were in evidence, no shots were fired.

Most of the klansmen escaped in their cars but a few were bottled up in the house of Stephen Illey, where they huddled in the cellar while every window and much of the furniture disintegrated under a hail of rocks from the outside.

An appeal by Westwood town officials finally brought four state troops from Framingham, who dispersed the crowd and escorted the besieged klansmen to safety. They arrested three men, said to be klansmen, on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

The policy of the United States to use its moral influence in eliminating such domestic differences as may arise in Central America has been productive of most gratifying results, Dr. Rowe said. The people of Central America are gradually becoming convinced that we do not desire to control their political destinies but that the government and people of the United States are ever ready to be of service to them. The withdrawal of the legation guard in Nicaragua on Saturday last has been interpreted in Central America and in fact throughout Latin America as a concrete outward expression of the Pan-American policy of the United States.

"Tickle him with the whip and he'll go!" But You Can't Whip Your Car Up Hill!

Many years ago—in 1905—the proud owner of a horse and buggy was just one of many, many people. And he looked on the owner of a horseless carriage as an amiable eccentric with plenty of spare cash to throw away on useless fads and fadrol. The automobile would never be practical. It wouldn't last long. That was then. Today automobiles are almost perfect. The car owner can smile amiably at the eccentric person who is content to roll along in a buggy behind an ambling horse.

But the man in the buggy had one advantage over the motorist. With only a crack of a whip he could get extra speed out of the horse. But a man's car has no sense of discrimination. It isn't afraid of a whip. It won't offering it a few lumps of a full feed bag waiting in the garage. You can't make its gears shift any easier by offering it a few lumps of sugar. And so you have to take care of your car yourself. If you want to get the best results from your car you are the one who has to watch its diet.

Your car isn't particular about the kind of gasoline it eats. You can starve it or fatten it, and that won't worry the automobile at all. But it might worry you. In order to get the best from your car you must give it the best. Feed your car the right kind of gasoline and oil. Be sure that the crank case is drained properly. Give your car REAL service. Bring it to the De Baufur Oil Company if you want it to have what's right. Then it will give YOU real service.

And she had shown the world of gossip and a shining armor of defiance. But now that armor was utterly gone. May was defenseless, suddenly, in the face of this new snub.

"Oh, I know what's the matter with the old hens who started the club," May went on presently in a choky voice. "They think I'm absolutely beyond the pale because I lunch downtown with Jimmy once or twice a week. They might know that there's nothing to the whole thing by the frank open way we see each other. Why, you know there's nothing wrong between me and Jim, don't you, Gloria?"

"Of course, I do," Gloria said indignantly. She was very glad that she had been asked to join, however. For the first time since she had known her Gloria, she was friendly feeling for Mother Gregory, who had managed to get her into the club.

"Well, then for the love of Maud, go to your mother-in-law, and do what you can for her. She's the head of the membership committee, I hear," May went on more calmly. "Tell her I'm through with Jim Carrawe. If you like." That ought to fetch her."

"But are you?" Gloria asked, cautiously.

"I guess so," May answered. "I've just made up my mind that the game isn't worth the scandal!" After all, seeing Jim or any other man once in a while isn't worth the loss of my rep. . . my good name, is it? . . . You've got to play in this world, Gloria, or they won't let you play at all, do you know it? . . . Now do your best for me with Dick's mother, won't you? I've just got to get into that club!"

Gloria promised she would. She went back into the sunroom, and picked up a magazine, wondering how to present May's very weak case to her mother-in-law. "That was May Seymour on the phone," she began. "I wish you wouldn't see so much of that woman," Mrs. Gregory replied. "As I've told you before, she's a thoroughly bad woman. I heard some dreadful stories about her and that good-for-nothing Carrawe the other day. She doesn't deserve that nice husband of hers. And as for Carrawe, he ought to be tarred and feathered!"

She shook out the paper vigorously. "I suppose it's from her you got your idea of driving all over the countryside with that actor you were with the other day?" Mother Gregory continued. "She seems to think she can gad all over with Carrawe and never have a word whispered against her! Well, she can't. One of Dr. John's patients brought her name up before the Home Women's Club the other day . . . and it was voted down quick, or than it went up, let me tell you!"

"Gloria saw how utterly hopeless May's case was. A burning thread of terror went through her like a dart of lightning. This was what women could do to one of their own sex who stepped over the boundary of good behavior that they have laid down for themselves throughout the centuries!"

Women had made May a pariah—an outcast! They had kept her out of their clubs—given her the cold shoulder. They had shown her that if she wanted to defy them, she would have to walk alone . . . as other foolish and defiant women had walked alone, and worn the scarlet letter of shame and solitude.

Gloria wondered what would happen to her if her women friends knew that she had been seeing Stanley Wayburn alone! She wondered what they would do when they did find out . . . if they ever did. For Gloria knew she could never refuse to see Wayburn so long as he wanted to see her.

Soon after May's tearful telephone message, Mother Gregory got up to go. She wrapped herself in her black broadcloth and furs that always emanated of mothballs, and pecked Gloria on her cheek.

"Goodbye," she said severely. "And I hope that your friend, Mrs. Seymour, will be an example to you of what happens to foolish wives who go tramping around with men who wouldn't marry them if they had the chance! . . . Decent women simply won't have anything to do with them. And you can tell May Seymour for me that until she gives up that Carrawe, she can whistle and wait to get into the Home Women's Club, or any other club where I'm a member! For I'll vote her down every time! She's a disgrace to this town!"

Mother Gregory jerked her veil down over her Roman nose, and swept out of the house like a ship in full sail.

So, Gloria thought, it was Mother Gregory who had kept May out of the club! What a hateful woman Dick's mother was!

And how dreadful for May to know that hundreds of women were against her, wanted to have nothing at all to do with her! To know that dozens of tongues were wagging about her and her affair with Jim Carrawe! . . . And yet, Gloria knew that but for the grace of Providence, she might be in the same boat with May Seymour, this very minute!

For someone besides Mother Gregory, might have seen her and Stan Wayburn in her car, just as people had seen May and Jim together! And there would be talk and talk . . . until the whole town would be talking about her and Stan.

Gloria shivered as she picked up the telephone and gave May's number. "Mayse, dear, I just finished talking to Dick's mother," Gloria began unhappily when May answered her ring. "I did my very best for you but it's no use! She says there's not a ghost of a chance for you to get into the club. . . You're right, there has been a lot of talk about you and Jim! At least, Mother Gregory says there has."

"The old hypocrite!" May broke in harshly. "I'll bet she's at the bottom of the whole thing! She's a woman who hates me the way a lot of other women in this town have . . . because I married their dear, dear doctor! . . . Women always have a cozy corner in their hearts for the family doctor. And they sure do hate him to have a wife. I've found that out!"

Gloria laughed in spite of herself. "But not Mother Gregory!" she protested. "Why, she's old enough to be Dr. John's mother."

"Oh, I don't mean she's in love with him, you poor prune!" May broke in. "That's absurd. But just the same, women like to think that their sympathetic doctor takes a personal interest in all their aches and pains. They love to go to him with their troubles. . . Oh, I could tell you a thing or two about being a doctor's wife, if I wanted to! You don't know the half of it, dearie!"

May paused for breath. Then she went on in her high voice: "Well, even if I can't get into a woman's club, I suppose the stores are still open to me . . . How would you like to go shopping with me this morning?"

"I can't leave the house to day, I'm busy," Gloria fibbed. She wondered how May would feel if she knew the truth . . . that Dick had forbidden her to be seen anywhere with May! . . . Not that that would have stopped Gloria, if she had wanted to be seen with May! . . . But she didn't want to be classed as a "bird of a feather" with May Seymour. No, indeed!

Gloria began to perceive, dimly, that neither law nor law makers rule this world of ours, but that four little words do . . . "What Will People Say?"

APPLETON NOSES OUT OSHKOSH, 4-3 IN SUNDAY TILT

Crowe Holds His Own Against Veteran Noel In Pitching Contest

Baetzmen Break Long Losing Streak by Handing Sawdust City Outfit Drubbing

Outplaying Oshkosh, 4 to 3, Appleton Sunday afternoon broke its losing streak in the Eastern Wisconsin league and kept a crowd of fans at Grand Park on their feet with some sparkling play. Crowe pitched a fine game against Bruce Noel, state league veteran almost twice his age, allowing but 5 hits to 4 his mates collected off Noel. A couple of double plays, one by each club, enlivened the play, but only one extra base hit was poled during the entire game—a two-bagger by Seft, Oshkosh shortstop.

For the first five innings no one got beyond first base, although the Sawdust City tribe poked out a safety in the first and again in the fourth. Noel's pitching in the early stages of the game was faultless, and the Appleton swatsmiths were unable to find his offerings for anything that counted.

OSHKOSH SCORES
In the sixth stanza Oshkosh started scoring. After Schultz had been retired on an infield grounder, Seft poled his two-bagger and was scored by Handy's hit. Lambrecht fanned the air three times and Handy came home on Sommerfeld's bingle. The Baetzmen capped two runs in their half of the inning off two hits and an error, and in the seventh went into the lead by two tallies when they made two runs off a hit batsman, two hits and an error. They failed to score for the rest of the game, although Lamb slammed out a hit.

A free pass to first, a hit and an error gave the invaders a chance in the ninth, and they managed to cop one more run. It looked bad for Crowe for a while with the bases loaded, but he managed to pitch himself out of the hole, and when the last Oshkosh man was retired, Appleton had won, 4 to 3.

Athletics Make Star Of Once Scrawny Boy

Kokomo, Ind.—About six or seven years ago Russell "Rut" Walter, pride of the local high school, was so weak and scrawny that his parents were advised to take him to a dryer climate for the benefit of his health.

Doctors disagreed as to whether he was suffering from tuberculosis or leakage of the heart.

He took up athletics, increasing his exercises until he built up a physique strong enough to enable him to become the individual star of Stagg's national interscholastic track and field meet held this year at Chicago.

In the national interscholastic Walter took first in the 220 and 440-yard dashes, running the former in 22 1-10 seconds and the latter in 50.9 seconds, just 1-10 of a second slower than the national record, and also came in third in the blanket finish of the 100-yard dash. His running gave Kokomo high school a tie for second place in the meet, he having garnered 13 points.

At the state track and field meet held at Indianapolis, Walter established new Indiana records in the 20 and 440-yard dashes and tied the Indiana record in the 100-yard dash, in addition to placing in the broad Kokomo's winning half-mile relay

By Associated Press
New York — The executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association Monday adjudged William T. Tilden II, national singles champion, guilty of violating the play-writer rule in giving exclusive interviews to a press syndicate, but allowed him to retain his amateur status upon his agreement to comply in the future with the requirements of the committee.

The officials ruled that there was no difference between a player writing a current article on a tournament in which he was participating and in giving an interview for syndication.

On the basis of this decision they found Tilden subject to suspension and disqualification, but withheld punitive measures on Tilden's promise made in writing strictly to observe the rule.

GIVES PROMISE
The champion informed the committee that he had not intentionally violated the rule as construed at Sunday night's meeting and assured the officials that in the future he would not be guilty of a similar offense. This removed all question of the champion's eligibility to participate in the Davis cup tryouts and the east-west matches next week. Disqualification of the champion would have removed the potential number 1 player of America's cup defending team in the international series.

The committee unanimously empowered the president and chairman of the committee to suspend any player, the action to be final unless revoked by the committee.

ACCEPTS APOLOGY
The committee in its finding in regard to Tilden said:

"In consideration of statement by Mr. Tilden that he had not intentionally violated the rule and that he desired to comply with the requirements of the bylaws as construed by the executive committee, the committee voted to accept Mr. Tilden's promise that in the future he would give no interviews on any event in which he was a competitor to any news syndicate, corporation or person with which he had contracted to supply articles for pay and to give no release of any such event to the press earlier than the third day following the completion of the event. This understanding having been reduced to writing and signed by Mr. Tilden, the resolution suspending him and declaring him ineligible to compete was not adopted."

Return Of Chief Bender Recalls Days In Majors

Chicago—When "Chief" Bender went into the pitcher's box as relief hurler for the White Sox the other day, it brought back visions of the great Indian during the years he was a leading gunner on Connie Mack's team.

In those stirring days Bender rated one of the niftiest pitchers in the American league. His fast ball was his biggest asset. Players opined it was no larger than a pea when it sailed across the plate.

Bender came to the majors in 1903, winning his first game via a shutout. He let the Yankees down with four scattered blows. It was, indeed, an auspicious start.

On two occasions the Chippewa topped the Johnson circuit in the pitching records. That was in 1910 and 1911. He was one of the few ever to turn such a trick; in fact one of four, Waddell, Mays and Johnson being the others.

Bender was in five world series, his 2-1 reverse at the hands of the Giants in 1911 ranking as one of his greatest classics. A fumble by one of his mates alone sent him to defeat.

On May 12, 1910, he twirled a no-hit-no-run game against Cleveland. Only one man, Terry Turner, reached first base on him. He got there through a base on balls.

In 1915 Bender jumped to the Federal league, coming back to the majors the following season as a member of the Phillies, where he played for two seasons.

More recently he was with the Baltimore Orioles and at one time managed New Haven in the Eastern League. He is now 42 years old.

COMBINED LOCKS WINS, 11-3, FROM FOX RIVER

Combined Locks Industrials Saturday swamped the Fox River Paper Co. team of Appleton, 11 to 3, in a contest at Combined Locks, a homer by Ronay and another by Ted (Boots) Gamers, former State leaguer, turning the trick. Ronay crashed his four-play clout in the sixth with the bases loaded, after Boots had poled his way on in the fourth. Lotzer and Red Smith were the Combined Locks battery, while Radtke, Crowe and Last worked for the Fox River club.

out the Triangles by seven percentage points and the Y. M. C. A. will not have another chance to catch up until August 12, when it meets the Post-Crescent. Meanwhile the Bankers will be idle also, being scheduled to clash with the tailenders on August 14. The Triangles stand a good chance to lose to the Post-Crescents, while the Bankers are banking on a win over the Meyer Press to give them a greater lead over the Triangles.

Baseball Simplified By Billy Evans

Is it possible for a team second at bat in the fifth inning or any inning thereafter to win a game in its half that is unfinished because of being called on account of rain or darkness?

For instance, when the home team goes to bat in the last of the eighth, the score is 4-1 against it. The home team proceeds to score four runs in its half and has two on the bases and two out when the umpire calls the game.

What is the score?

The home team won the game cited by the score of 5-4.

When a game is called by the umpire because of rain or darkness, and the side second at bat shall, before the completion of an inning score at least one more run than the side first at bat, the score shall be the total number of runs each team has made.

When the home team in the cases cited scored four runs in the last of the eighth and only two were out, it had tallied one more run than the first side at bat, since the score at the start of the inning was 4-1 against the home team.

No thought is given the fact that the side was not retired before the game was called. As a matter of fact the home team made the necessary runs to win without making use of the three outs to which it was entitled.

The situation here is much the same as in the ninth inning of any extra inning, in which the home team puts over the winning run before the third out is made.

The game ends then and there. A called game, where the home team makes at least one more run in an unfinished inning, is regarded in the same light.

24 RIVERVIEW GOLF ACES QUALIFY FOR CLUB TITLE JOUSTS

Twenty four Riverview golfers survived the qualifying round of the club championship tournament Saturday afternoon, eight in each of the three classes. The list of entries was almost as long as the club role, and a number of excellent scores were made in all classes.

Those who qualified and the pairings for the next round, which must be played off this week follow:

Class A—K. S. Dickinson vs. Donald Turner, C. S. Dickinson vs. E. D. Beales, D. W. Bergstrom vs. R. A. Peterson and F. E. Holbrook vs. D. C. Shepard.

Class B—M. B. Olmstead vs. R. K. Volter, W. H. Guidotti vs. Dr. A. E. Rector, R. Thickens vs. F. P. Young and L. D. Hallock vs. A. C. Gilbert.

Class C—P. R. McCall vs. Harry Price, Dr. L. H. Moore vs. R. H. Maxton, George Gavford vs. J. L. Sensenbrenner and F. B. Whiting vs. Ray Kelly.

CUB BUCK SIGNS GRID ARTICLES

Giant Footballer Joins Packers for His Fifth Straight Season

Howard (Cub) Buck has signed his contract with the Green Bay Packers for the fifth successive season, according to an announcement from Green Bay. The 240-pound juggernaut has been one of the mainstays of the Packers every year and without his name on the lineup they would hardly be themselves. Cub's extraordinary speed, for a big man, and his "educated toe" are valuable assets for any football team, and his knowledge of the game makes him one of the most sought for players in postgraduate ranks.

The home season of the Packers is due to start on Sept. 13, and meanwhile Cub is keeping in condition by playing twilight baseball several times a week in the Park league here. Cub resides in Neenah where he conducts an automobile business, but no matter how busy he may be the rest of the time when his team is in the field, he manages to be there. Two years ago he coached the Lawrence gridders in addition to his other activities, and on off days acted as arbiter in football contests.

WATER QUEENS GATHER FOR DETROIT CARNIVAL

Detroit, Mich.—Every section of the United States and Hawaii will be represented at the national Amateur Athletic Union Women's outdoor swimming championship meet to be held at Belle Isle here for four days beginning Thursday. The event will be staged in connection with the sixth annual city water carnival.

All of the present amateur title holders except Gertrude Ederle who is planning an attempt to swim the English channel are expected to take part in the event here. This is the first time that the national Amateur Athletic has staged all title events in one city.

JOHNSON EVENS UP SCORE WITH OLDTIME RIVAL

Walter Holds Ty Cobb Hitless In Three Times at Bat, to Win, 5 to 1

New York—Eighteen years of major league pitching have failed to take toll from the mighty arm of Walter Johnson.

Defeating the Detroit Tigers Sunday, 5 to 1, with but two hits, the veteran Washington hurler celebrated his debut as a pitcher in 1907 against the same club by turning the tables on Ty Cobb who had a share in the defeat of the young pitcher 18 years ago, 3 to 2. Sunday Walter took his revenge by holding Cobb hitless in three times at bat. In that first game, Johnson pitched for a last place club against a team which was perched high on the American league pinnacle. Sunday, he had the privilege of holding the mound for a world's champion team and a pennant contender, now but one full game behind the leading Athletics.

Only one other game was played in the junior circuit Sunday, the Cleveland Indians shattering a four-game winning streak of the Yankees, 3 to 2. Speaker, held hitless by Shawkey, nevertheless was able to supply the winning clout of the game—a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning after Jameson had doubled and moved to third on an infield out.

CARDS BOOST PIRATES

The St. Louis Cardinals put the Pittsburgh Pirates back into first place in the National league by trouncing the New York Giants, 8 to 1.

Hornshy led the St. Louis assault with a triple and a home run.

The return of Pittsburgh to the peak marked the tenth change in the National league leadership since the first week in July.

Cincinnati Reds after winning ten straight games, broke their streak by tossing the second game of a double-header to the Boston Braves. Nine team men were hurled into the breach to stem the tide for the Reds after they had gathered in the first game, 8 to 5, but errors by Wingo and Caveney nullified the rescue attempt, 5 to 3.

Dick Cox's homer, his second in as many days, produced the runs that gave the Robins a 4 to 2 triumph over the Cubs in the only other National league melee. Cox delivered his circuit slam with two on base on the opening frame.

WOMAN CUE STAR WILL GIVE EXHIBITION HERE

Miss Frances Anderson, woman champion carom and pocket billiard player, will give an exhibition in Recreation hall Monday evening, free of charge. While on a recent trip she established a high run of 51, rack pool, at Dayton, O., and 33 at Milwaukee. The exhibition here will begin at 8 o'clock.

GERTRUDE EDERLE PUTS OFF CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Boulogne, France — Early Monday morning Gertrude Ederle, the American girl swimmer, decided not to make an attempt to swim the English Channel Monday. Postponement of the start was due to bad conditions prevailing in the channel.

GOLF As Champions Play It

In putting, should the wrists be immobile?

BY CYRIL WALKER
National Open Champion, 1924
No. This method, though frequently practiced, is incorrect. A correct putt is a wrist movement almost entirely, the arms remaining practically motionless on short putts, moving slightly on long ones. In a correctly executed putt the putter moves backward and straight forward like a pendulum, following through in a straight line toward the cup. This pendulum swing can be executed much more accurately with a wrist movement, the arms serving as a fixed pivot. The arms, of course, must move more on longer putts to give the necessary force to the shot.

LINE COACH

Ed R. Slaughter, former Michigan grid star and Walter Camp's choice for the All-American, has been engaged as assistant line coach of the Wisconsin university football team by Coach George Little. Slaughter is regarded as one of the best linemen in the west and will be a valuable addition to the Badger staff when he reports on Sept. 15.

Turns Down Freedom For Joy of Jail Life

By Associated Press
Rome—The incorrigibility and contempt for the police which made Silvio Visconti a thorn in the side of the authorities a half century ago, when he was a member of the famous Carbonari La Gala bandit band, stood him in good stead recently when he again, at the age of 94, found himself at odds with the forces of law and order.

Informed by the wardens of the Portici prison in Naples, where he had been incarcerated for 45 years, that he was free, he insisted that he wanted to spend the rest of his days in jail. Despite the aged man's protests, two carabinieri took him to his native village, Gissuni-Vallepietra. But Silvio knew they could not keep him out of jail if he broke his good conduct parole, so walked back the 300 miles to Naples, an heroic task for a man of his age, sat down in front of the prison gate and howled until the wardens were forced to admit him.

Fingerprint system identification has been used in China since the Han dynasty (206 B. C. A. D. 25) according to the home ministry.

AGED MAN AND CHILD STRUCK BY AUTOISTS

dan collided with another sedan driven by W. F. Gerbinsky of Manitowoc Sunday morning.

The Appleton car was driven by young Steinberg and was returning from church services in Appleton, and was struck just as it was turning the corner of Lake Park-rd to go east to their summer home at Shore Acres. The driver of the Manitowoc car coming from the east was about to turn south on Lake Park-rd. Becoming confused on meeting the Steinberg car, he rammed his vehicle against the rear of the other and forced it into the ditch.

GLASS CUTS OCCUPANTS

A shower of glass descended upon the Steinberg party. The driver was forced par taw through the windshield inflicting four bad gashes on his head. His little sister was thrown through the open window. She suffered painful bruises, but no bones were broken. Mrs. Steinberg and Miss Larners also suffered bruises on their body and limbs. The Manitowoc man had his hand cut from the flying glass.

The two rear wheels of the Appleton car were broken and a wheel of the Manitowoc car was broken off. The front end of the latter machine also was rammed in.

Little Marian Schwenker suffered bruises on the head and shoulders when she was struck down on the pavement by a car driven by August Blaes, 228 N. Union-st, at about 1:15 Sunday noon. The accident occurred in front of the Schwenker home on N. Oneida-st. The girl's father had stopped his car and the girl started for the house going back of the vehicle.

The city ambulance answered a call to S. Oneida, between E. McKinley and E. 1st Saturday where, it was reported two young men in a Dodge truck had been injured in a collision with a car driven by Vincent Jones, 327 W. Spencer-st. When the ambulance arrived the two young men had already been removed. The truck, the police learned, belonged to Peter Wenz, First-st, Menasha. Both cars had their front ends damaged.

The touring cars were slightly damaged at about 9:10 Sunday evening on highway 15 just east of the Appleton city limits. One driven by an Illinois tourist named Joseph Banet, 424 Elm-st, Green Bay, which had been parked at the side of the highway. The Banet car was parked with one rear wheel on the concrete and the tail light was extinguished. It is said, although the front lights were burning. No one was in the parked car at the time of the accident. No one was injured, but the front of the Banet car was both damaged.

165 BOUGHT TICKETS ON CHICAGO EXCURSION

Sunday's excursion to Chicago over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad was a success, according to A. W. Liese, Appleton agent of the road. One-hundred and sixty-five Appleton persons made the trip to Chicago on the excursion and a total of 1,600 people was carried to Chicago on the two excursion trains of the St. Paul road one of which left from Appleton and the excursionists left for Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul depot at midnight Saturday and arrived in Chicago at 6:45 Sunday morning. The whole day was spent in the city, and in the evening the excursion train left Chicago arriving in Appleton about 2 o'clock Monday morning. The trip was made to and from Chicago on a finely equipped train, it was said.

Mr. Liese reports that an excursion to Milwaukee will be run soon. The round trip fare to Chicago and return was $3.75.

The Weather

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
Fair tonight. Slightly warmer in southwest and portions Tuesday increasing cloudiness. Warmer in east and south portions.

GENERAL WEATHER
The pressure was high over the eastern half of the country Monday morning from the middle Rocky mountain region northward. The weather is fair in nearly all sections. Temperatures are slightly below normal eastward to the Appalachians, about normal in the central valleys, and above normal in the intermountain region. Conditions are favorable for generally fair weather with moderate temperature in this section over Tuesday.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN In Municipal Court For Outagamie County. John Kohl, Plaintiff.

William Glasheen (also known as Will Glasheen) and Michael Glasheen (also known as Mike Glasheen) and State Bank of Hilbert, Defendants.

By virtue of a judgement of foreclosure and sale, made and entered in the above entitled action on the thirtieth day of June, A. D. 1924, the undersigned Sheriff of Outagamie County, state of Wisconsin, will sell at the sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin, on the 27th day of August, A. STORES RECOVER GOODS FORGERS BOUGHT OF THEM

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thomas May Be Turned Over to Police Here

Appleton merchants who last week were defrauded by the trio of check forgers arrested in Sheboygan Thursday will not only have their merchandise returned, but also will be reimbursed for the money they gave out in accepting the worthless checks.

This became known after Chief George T. Prim's return from Sheboygan bringing back the goods. Approximately $400 in money was found in possession of the forger trio, and the Appleton merchants will receive their share which amounts to about $130.

The party held at Sheboygan consists of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thomas, who in Appleton gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thompson, and Anton Sidebottom, also said to be a husband of the woman. The trio is wanted for similar offenses in a number of other Wisconsin cities. It is possible that they may be turned over to the Appleton authorities after their cases have been disposed of in Sheboygan. A bigamy charge also may be preferred against Mrs. Thomas.

Nine Appleton stores had been visited by the forgers. Clothing and shoes were purchased by them for themselves and their four children traveling with them. At Pettibone-Peabody company they purchased a gingham dress for a child and some underwear, at Gloumenden-Gage company address, at Matt Schmidt and Son a pair of overalls and a shirt, at J. C. Penney company some nightgowns and children's dresses, at G. R. Kinney company three pairs of shoes, at Novelty Drygoods a pair of shoes, at Geenen Bootshops store some blouses and a shirt. The checks given in payment ranged from $10 to $15.

PLEAD "CELL SHOCK" IN TRIAL OF SCOTT

result of almost a week of incessant examinations. Jailers reported that when given permission, he attended a vaudeville show Sunday in the jail schoolroom, strolling nonchalantly among fellow prisoners.

TWENTY WITNESSES
The state presented a list of 20 witnesses including 15 laymen and five alienists. Jail attaches, guards and deputy sheriffs who have been custodians of Scott since his incarceration, were the lay witnesses.

The state's contention that Scott is sane will be presented by Doctors W. O. Krohn, Ralph Hinton, superintendent of the state hospital, Elgin, Charles F. Reed, supervising state alienist, W. K. Dyer, superintendent of the state hospital at Kankakee, and Will Randolph, neuro-psychopathic expert attached to the local office of the United States Veterans bureau.

The defense presented a list of nine alienists and a dozen lay witnesses including relatives, former business associates and witnesses at the Scott murder trial. Jacob Mauer, father of the 19-year-old boy for whose murder Scott was convicted, was in court half an hour before the hearing was to begin at 10 o'clock. He had engaged no attorney and had no standing before the court but sat quietly in a corner with the spectators.

PICKING JURY BY LOT
Judge David announced that the jury would be selected by lot and that the panels would be sworn in Monday if it would require a night session of court.

There will be no delay of any kind tolerated, said Judge David. The court will select the jury by lot and permit the attorneys to question the veniremen in groups.

The court declared alienists would be eliminated to five for each side. Thomas Scott, aged father of the prisoner came into court with the defense lawyers and took a seat in the press section instead of at the counsel table. Judge David excluded a large crowd from the courtroom during the selection of the jury.

The crowd milled about impatiently in the corridor.

Despite predictions of state attorneys that Scott would not be permitted, he was brought in from the jail as the first panel was drawn from the clerk's hat. He was pale and nervous but well groomed. The court advised the veniremen the only question at issue at the hearing was Scott's sanity. "The only question before this court is whether Russell Scott is insane or a lunatic. The facts of the previous trial are admitted," the judge said.

MORGAN ENVOY WILL CONFER WITH MEXICO

Mexico City — It is reported here that Thomas W. LaMont of J. P. Morgan and Co. or his representative will arrive in Mexico City within ten days to complete negotiations for the modification of the LaMont-Dr. La Huerta agreement which have been carried on in New York by Arturo Elias, Mexican consul general and financial agent.

The LaMont-De La Huerta agreement setting forth terms for the payment of all outstanding debts of the Republic of Mexico was concluded in New York in June 1922. Recent despatches from Mexico City have indicated the desire of the Mexican government to modify or void the agreement.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kittner and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wagner were visitors at Camp Onaway, Waupaca, Sunday.

FACE TRIAL FOR OWNER OF GREAT HOME PREFERRED TO LIVE IN SHOP

Calmes, Verbeten and Layendecker Are Arraigned at Green Bay

Fred Calmes, town of Grand Chute and Martin Verbeten and John Layendecker, both of Kimberly were bound over for trial before the Grand Jury in Milwaukee on Oct. 5 on charges of violation of the United States liquor laws, after a preliminary hearing Monday morning in Green Bay before United States Commissioner John F. Watermolen.

The men were arrested as a result of secret investigations made by general prohibition officers working out of Chicago.

The case of Edward Hofkens, Kimberly, was dismissed when it was found that the evidence was not such that it would warrant his being bound over for trial.

The case of F. G. Schuler, Combined Locks, was held open, owing to the fact that evidence offered by Attorney M. E. Davis appeared to warrant further investigation before the law on this point and decide whether Schuler may be released because of his recent commitment to and dismissal from the Northern hospital.

The case of George Brooks, Dale, was also to have been heard Monday but was postponed because of the ill health of Brooks. Brooks will be arraigned before Commissioner Watermolen as soon as possible.

SOUTH AFRICAN WOMAN IN TRANCE 15 YEARS

Rietfontein, South Africa—Scientists from England who have heard recently of the case of a woman, here who has been in a trance for 15 years may come to Rietfontein to make extensive investigations with the hopes of helping the victim. The woman is Miss Anna van der Merwe of Lichtenburg, a 35-year-old woman who became unconscious in 1910 when she was notified of the sudden death of her fiancé.

Not once, according to the attending physicians, since that time has the woman been fully conscious. After 11 years in her own home, under the care of relatives, she was taken to a hospital where attendants administer food and water every two hours.

OWNER OF GREAT HOME PREFERRED TO LIVE IN SHOP

Largest Residence in World Comprise About 260 Rooms

By Associated Press
London—Sir Everard Hambro, a director of the Bank of England, who died recently at the age of 83, was owner of one of the largest residences in the world, but he never called it a palace or a castle, preferring it to be known as a mere home.

The Hambro house in Dorsetshire was known to the neighbors as Milton Abbey by getting its name from the fact that originally it was a monastery. It was remodeled many years ago by Sir Everard and, taking in all the old nooks of the ancient buildings, was found to have about 260 rooms.

Sir Everard was extremely simple in his tastes, and one of his favorite remarks to his intimate friends was that his home contained about 255 rooms more than he required. Outside of his library, the favorite haunt of Sir Everard was the basement. Here he had fixed up a work shop, and spent many hours each day pottering with hammers and saws and other tools used by workers in wood. The banker frequently remarked that he had always not been a cabinet maker by trade.

The Hambro London banking firm of which Sir Everard was the head, contained some of the finest financial traditions of the last century. The company assisted materially in the reconstruction of Italy after the financial disaster which overtook the country in the days of Napoleon.

NASH MOTORS RALLY 24 POINTS IN HOUR

By Associated Press
New York—The closing was strong. Nash Motor rallied 24 points in the final hour. Dupont and Sears-Roebuck each extended their gains to five points and Public Service of New Jersey moved up four-all at new 1925 records.

Stock prices swung upward Monday despite the sporadic attempts of bear traders, taking advantage of the higher or call money rates, to unsettle the general list by attacking a few vulnerable issues. High priced specialties were buoyant, American Can, Dupont, General Railway Signal and International Telephone touching record high prices for all time, while General Electric touched 309, the highest figure since the segregation of the electric bond and share properties. Total sales approximated 1,350,000 shares.

CITIZENS OPEN LEGION DRIVE HERE THURSDAY

One Week Probably Will Be Devoted to Task of Raising
$5,000

Aug. 6 is the opening date for the American Legion endowment drive in Appleton according to an announcement from E. N. Smith, chairman of the campaign committee. It is expected that the Appleton drive will close Aug. 13, making just a week's campaign. Appleton's share in the national wide $5,000,000 drive is $5,000.

"A way to give concrete expression to the feeling, and to the promises we made when the boys marched away is now presented," declared Mr. Smith in speaking of his work as chairman of the committee. "Thousands of these boys who marched jauntily into war are stretched, maimed, wrecks of the men they were, on hospital beds. They need help. Orphans and dependent children of veterans also need help."

Mr. Smith said a gracious response is being made everywhere to the fund which the American legion is now raising for work for these mounting casualties of war. The country is showing that it realizes its obligations to the disabled soldiers, war widows, and war orphans and is welcoming this opportunity to discharge this obligation.

One-third of Wisconsin's share of $300,000 in the endowment drive will be used for the Wisconsin Legion rehabilitation camp at Tomahawk lake. The remaining two-thirds will be used for the national program of child welfare and rehabilitation work.

Mr. Smith called attention to those who are sponsoring the drive in Wisconsin. Gov. John J. Blaine, Chief Justice Ad Vinje and Edward A. Birge, retiring president of the University of Wisconsin, are included on honorary committee.

The executive committee for the state is made up of the following:

George Vits, Manitowoc, chairman; Mrs. Henry M. Youmans, Waukesha, vice chairman; W. H. Alford, Kenosha; Herbert Johnson, Racine; Clark Everest, Wausau; J. D. Steele, Merrill; Walter Schroeder, Milwaukee; Judge Henry Graess, Green Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seelen returned Saturday to their home in Minneapolis after spending several days with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zimmerman spent Sunday visiting at Kaukauna.

WILLIAMS IS ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Charles William, a partner in the American Good Food restaurant, who suffered a fractured skull from a blow with a cleaver wielded by Nick Gostas, the other proprietor in a quarrel on July 22, is able to be about once more. Williams who was conveyed to St. Elizabeth hospital immediately after the fight, visited with friends Monday. The only visible sign of the quarrel was a bandage about his head, half concealed by his hat.

APPLETON GETS TWO OFFICERS IN BLIND CLUB

New Organization Will Establish Industry for Blind at VanDyne

Two Appleton persons and one from Kaukauna are officers of the newly organized Fox River Association of the Blind which met at VanDyne last week. Preliminary steps toward the opening of a factory for Wisconsin blind were taken at the meeting of graduates of the Janesville state school for the blind.

Officers elected at the meeting were: Cedric Fournier, Green Bay, president; N. Feldman, Kaukauna, vice president; Ralph Horton, Appleton, secretary; Alice Otto, Appleton, treasurer. The association will be incorporated immediately. The officers make up the board of directors which will meet Sunday morning to complete plans for the opening of the factory, which will be located at Van Dyne.

When operating at full capacity the Van Dyne factory will employ 15 blind persons. They will manufacture brooms, baskets, rugs, and other household articles. The production capacity has been set at 50 dozen brooms and 450 rugs a week.

Construction work will be started soon on a new dormitory plans having been drawn by J. E. Hennen of Fond du Lac. The new dormitory is 85 feet by 25 feet and included 13 rooms. Excavation work will start within a week.

The new factory will also employ a sales force of blind people. The new organization will cooperate with similar organizations throughout the state.

The Misses Marie Lewandoski and Margaret Goss left Saturday evening for Waterloo, Ia., where they will visit Miss Goss's sister, Sister Boniface at St. Anthony hospital.

LAST LEGAL LOTTERY ENDS

The last legal lottery in the United States ended when Bernard C. Shields, secretary of the New Orleans board of liquidation, spun the big glass wheel behind him for the last time. This signaled the retirement of the famous $20,000,000 bond issue voted fifty years ago, in which $2,500,000 in prizes to lucky bond holders were paid out. The blindfolded orphan boy, in the background, drew the lucky numbers after the wheel was spun, and somebody was richer by $5000.

PASTOR FINDS STOLEN AUTO IN HIS GARAGE

Monticello—The Rev. A. Muehlmeier found himself in an embarrassing position when he returned from a vacation to find his garage sheltering what authorities discovered was a stolen car. A woman and a youth had asked permission of the pastor's family to leave the machine on the property, promising to return for it in a few days. They are not back yet and in the meantime it has been found to be the property of a Beloit man.

11 ATTEND CATHOLIC RETREAT AT DE PERE

Eleven Catholic men of Appleton attended the retreat for Catholic men of the Fox river valley from Friday evening to Sunday evening at St. Norbert college, De Pere. Seventy-five men attended from the entire valley. The retreat was under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the Rev. Hugo Slotemeyer, S. J., of St. Louis, Mo., was in charge. The retreat was spent in meditation, prayer and instruction. The next retreat at the De Pere college will be held Sept. 6 and 7 under auspices of Holy Name society.

SHOE PROBLEMS HEADLINE STATE DEALER SESSION

Wisconsin Convention Will Be Held at Green Bay Aug. 11
and 12

An excellent program has been prepared for the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Shoe Retailers association which will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 11 and 12 at Green Bay, according to R. E. Sager, president of the association. Sessions will be held in the Northland ball room.

Tuesday morning will be devoted to registration and conferences with representatives of shoe companies. The ladies' reception committee will arrange for the entertainment of the ladies who will accompany the delegates. The opening address will be made by Judge Henry Graess in the afternoon.

The two-day program follows: Tuesday afternoon—Community singing led by Prof. Alex Enna, opening address by Judge Graess; Store Appearance as a Capital Asset—R. F. Mahia, secretary Green Bay Association of Commerce; Officers reports; discussion on Misuse in Sales of Corrective Shoes, led by Max Lau, Tuesday evening—Humorous address on Shoe Styles—J. H. McGilligan; style featuring living models and Miss Mildred Hagerty, Green Bay dancing instructor.

Wednesday morning—Address by George M. Spangler, manager of the National Shoe Retailers association; discussion on Shoe Store Problems led by Harry Balaban, Beloit. Wednesday afternoon—Wisconsin's Problems—W. L. Evans; committee reports and election of officers; discussion on Mail Order Houses and Manufacturers Making Shoes For House to House Peddlers, led by A. B. Caspari, Milwaukee; selection of convention city for 1926; motor ride through historic Green Bay and vicinity. Wednesday evening—Community singing; address, Why Favored the Pure Shoe

12 TOURIST PARTIES AT KIWANIS CAMPSITE

Twelve tourist cars visited Appleton's new camping grounds at Belling's corner on W. Prospect-ave over the weekend. The grounds, which are conducted by Appleton Kiwanis club, were ready for use for the first time this year. Three of the cars at the grounds bore Oklahoma license plates.

Practically all of the campers seemed satisfied with the new grounds. The only complaints registered were

Law—Assemblyman Anton Holly, father of the bill opposed by many shoemen, accompanied by a general discussion; dancing in Northland ball room.

Hats that are New Appear in Velvet--- in Velour and Felt

NEW HATS are arriving daily. Smart velvet hats in the becoming new Fall shapes and colors. These little hats are quite different in their effect from the millinery styles of Spring and Summer—as different as the seasons. Pert little hats of velvet, velour or felt, made with brims that turn up sharply from the face, are now shown in the fashionable new hues.

These hats are intended for immediate wear. They are appearing on the streets of every large city and are quite appropriate for late Summer and Fall. You will be delighted with them.

Velvet Hats - $5. - $6.50 - $8.

New velvet hats are shown in black, wood, sand, the pansy shades and tangerine. Many of them have little ostrich and feather ornaments. All are smart. Moderately priced from $5. to $8.

Velour Hats - $7. - $9. - $10.

Soft velour hats with tailored outlines are shown in the Kasha shade, in rose, wood, purple, and ashes of roses. They are simply trimmed with ribbon bands. $7. to $10.

Felt Hats $3. - $5.

Little sport hats of bright felt are always popular. The newest ones come in bright orange, a lovely shade of green, rose and powder blue. $3. and $5.
